Will set lake precedent

County wants Service Area 8

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Some residents that live in the watershed area surrounding the East and West Loon Lakes are still busy getting petitions signed against the creation of Special Service Area 8.

There is less than a month left for these citizens opposed to the special service area to get the signatures of 51 percent of property owners and 51 percent of registered voters owning property in the area.

This is a difficult job since so many of the homes in the area are summer homes and the property owners are not local.

Those opposed to the creation of the special service area are worried about county intervention in the clean-up of the lakes if the service area is created.

There have been legal opinions given that there has always been public access to the lakes, but even the Lake County Health Dept. will not state that this is a fact.

who is busy passing opposition petitions, says that he and many of his neighbors are worried that "The county will take over and will administrate the special tax assessment monies to clean up the lakes if the service area becomes a reality, leaving those who are paying the assessment no say-so in how the money is spent."

According to Dwight Magalis, county administrator, the county board creates a special service area. The county will be in charge of collecting the tax assessment monies and depositing it with the county treasurer.

Village Board disagrees with plan commission

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Otto Springer, who owns several hundred acres of land south of the Red Wing Marsh area, which is included in the 8,000 acres east of Deep Lake Rd. annexed by the Village of Antioch last winter, should be happier than he was a few board meetings ago.

Springer's property is part of the East Sub-Area. Planning Resources, the village planners, have just made a study of that area and presented the board with recommendations.

The village board voted to go against the planners recommendation that the area owned by Springer and the Elfering family, bordering the Red Wing Marsh be limited to three-acre lots. The board will send a recommendation for one-acre lots back to the plan commission.

Springer told the board that he had been promised one-acre lot limits by former Mayor Ray Toft.

Although buffer zones as large as 300 feet surrounding the marsh area had been favored by some village trustees and planners previous to a walk through the property last Saturday, the majority of (Continued on Page 6)

Magalis: "We hope to demonstrate that we can clean-up a lake. This success could affect the other 170 lakes in the county."

Colin Thacker of that department said that if the service area is created, "There will have to be public access to the lakes."

He adds that this can simply be a dirt dead-end road leading to the water's edge.

Edmund Roberts, one of the residents

Though he was not absolutely certain of what steps the county would take after collecting the money, Magalis said, "The county board would probably then form an advisory group made up of homeowners who would come to the county with their budget and work with the county health department in administering the monies."

Magalis reiterated that the county health department is most anxious that the service area be created because it will set a precedent as the first service area for lake cleanup.

"We hope to demonstrate that we can clean-up a lake," said Magalis, adding that this success would affect the other 170 lakes in the county.

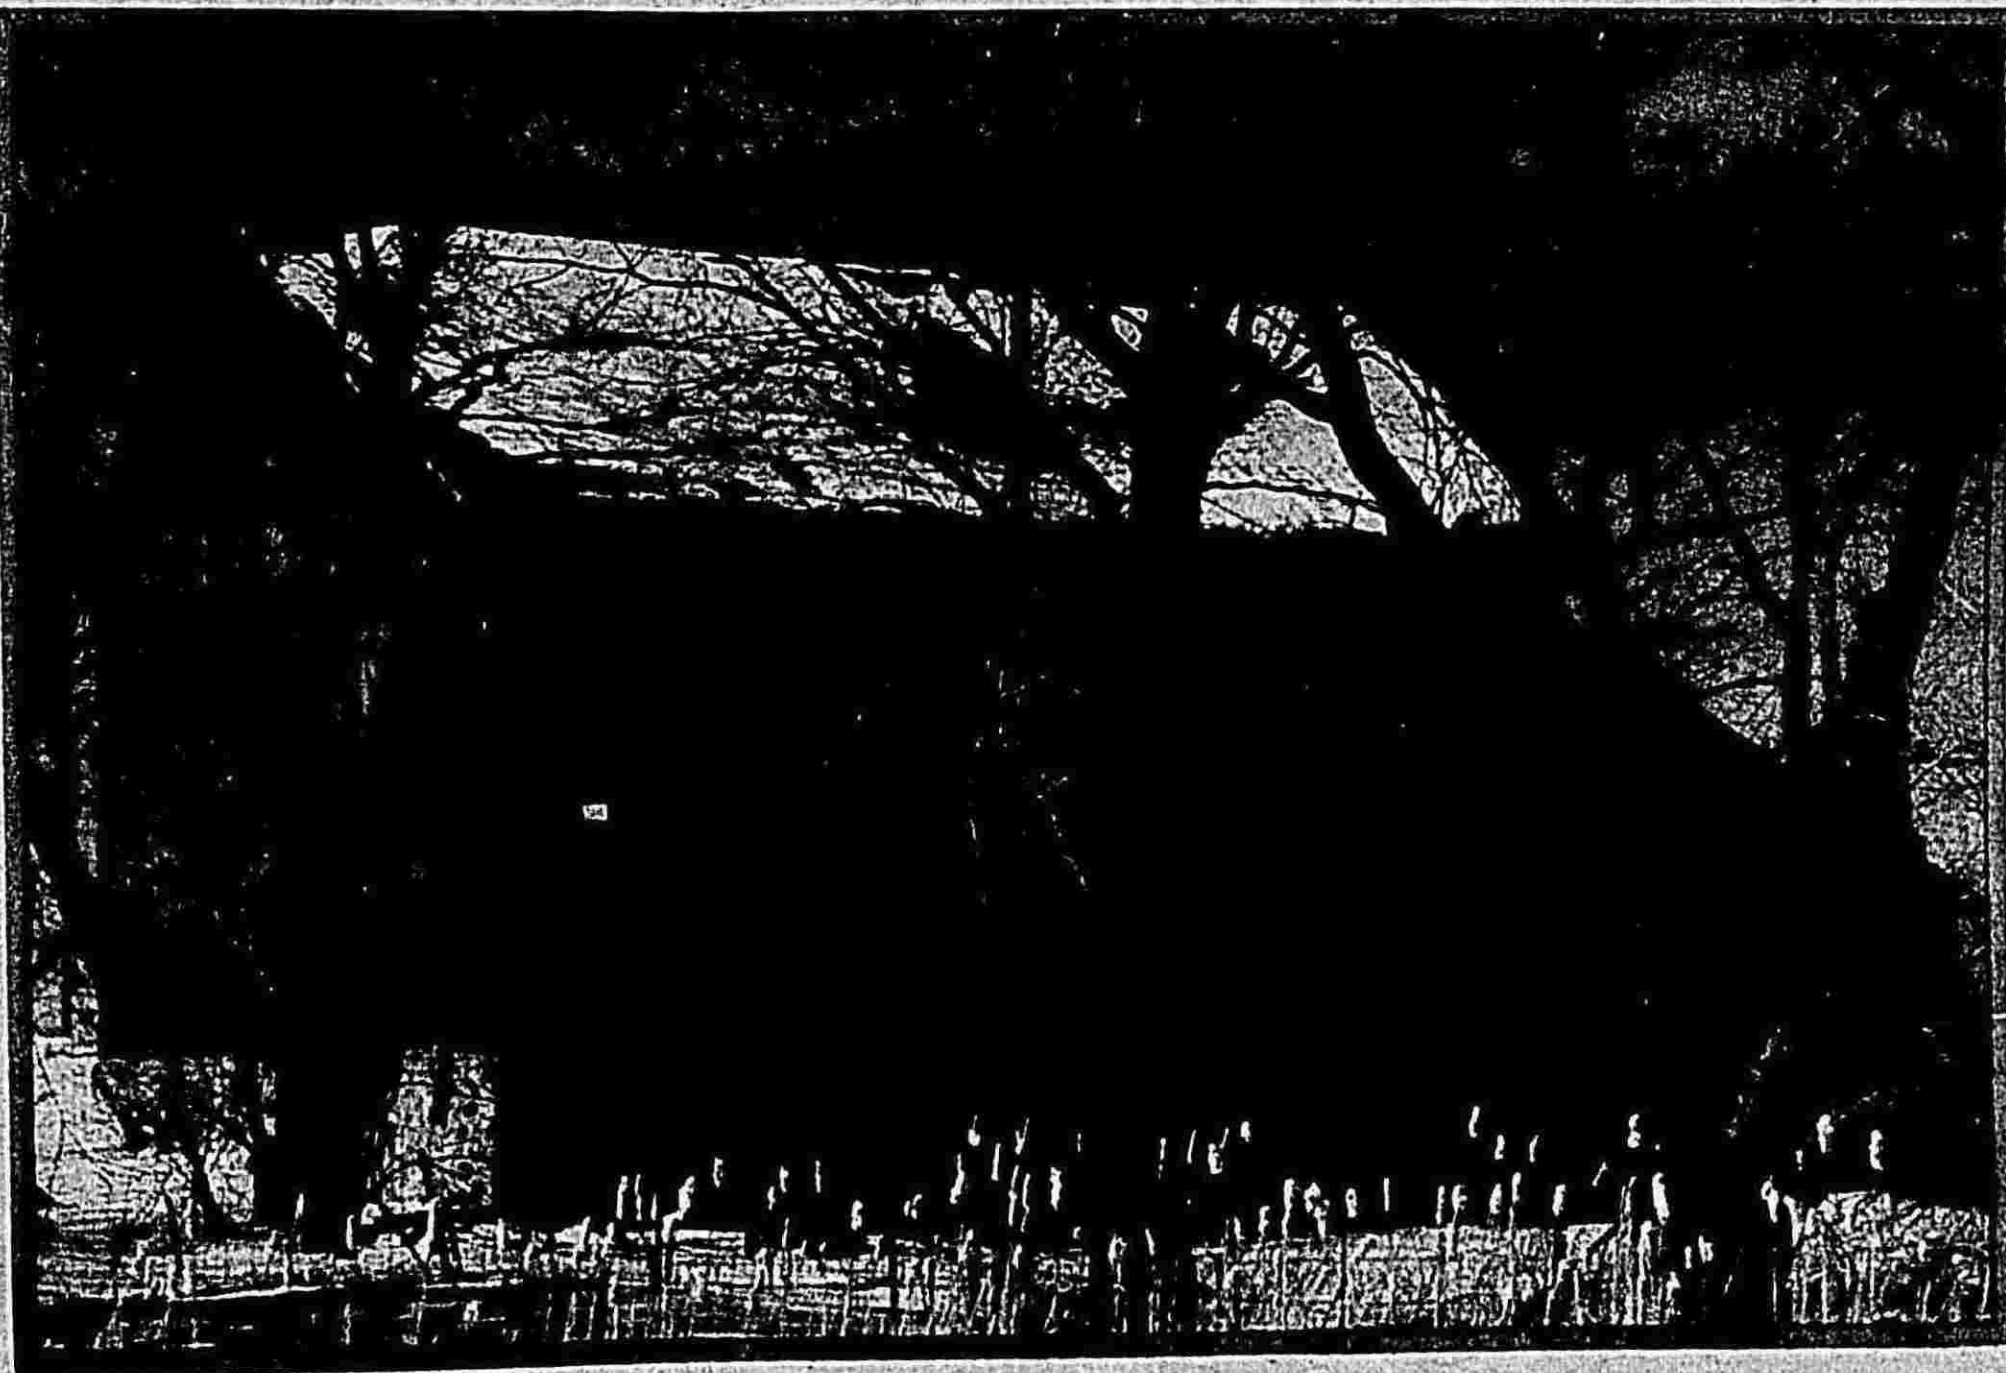

If the creation of this special service area goes through, residents owning properties in the watersheds of other Lake County lakes might find themselves living in a special service area in the future.

Thacker says that the Environmental Health Division's Lakes Management Unit, of which he is the director, has provided Lake County communities with environmental data and management advice on their lakes for 10 years.

Thacker says concerning Special Service Area 8, "problems exist with communication, public access and boundaries that need to be addressed and resolved."

Thacker goes on to say, "Whether or not a special service area around East and West Loon Lakes is approved, it is important to understand that the quality of these lakes is poor and the activities of residents in the 3,168-acre watershed do affect the lakes."

On Tuesday, March 13, at 7 p.m., the county will be at the Antioch Senior Center for a public hearing on the creation of the service area and to exchange information with interested residents.

Sign of 'progress'

The fading and cracking paint on this picturesque Lake County barn foreshadows the waning of the county's agriculture lands in lieu of progress as a commercial and residential boom continues to explode countywide.—Photo by Dan Gudgeon Jr.

GOP party, office under fire

Fraud charges made about election tactics

Charges of fraud are being made against the Republican Central Committee and Chairman Robert Neal by two Republican candidates for the County Board on the March primary ballot.

Their campaign chairman, County Board member Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa in Dist. 4, says she will file a complaint with the Illinois Board of Elections.

She is chairman for the co-campaigns of Republicans Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake and Robert Boness of Round Lake Beach. They are running for two vacancies in Dist. 4 against two endorsed Republicans, incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake and Charles Johnston of Round Lake Beach.

Specifically, Schmidt claims the Central Committee is committing fraud by using general party income to support specific candidates in the primary, a "closed" headquarters in Libertyville, collecting donations solely for specific candidates and will distribute sample ballots this weekend marked for specific candidates.

"All of us pay dues and other fees, but that money is being used against us," Schmidt said.

She said the new Lake County Republican Headquarters at 325 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, is closed to candidates like Leafblad and Boness. "They can't put literature there, pick it up or otherwise have anything to do with the location."

Neal admitted this. "Those two are not endorsed. This headquarters is only for those who have been endorsed by the Central Committee. Not one nickel of any unendorsed candidate's money or party money is being used in this part of the campaign. The headquarters is financed independently of the party."

Schmidt alleges the headquarters is really an activity of Jack Martin of the Libertyville Saddle Shop and active in his own political action committee, Citizens for Good Government. Contributions from and through that organization are being used to underwrite the Libertyville headquarters.

Schmidt said she may allege improprieties about the Martin connection in her state elections complaint plus similar funding by the Lake County Board of Realtors and Homebuilders Assn. of Lake County. Both have approved sizeable contributions to the endorsed Republican candidates in this election.

Another allegation Schmidt will make is about sample ballots scheduled to arrive in the mail boxes of Republican committeemen this month. Most will be marked for specific candidates. Committeemen had an option last month of returning a card that would left their ballots blank. Most ignored this in the height of the post-Christmas season.

"Our money is being used to pay for these ballots," Schmidt said on behalf of her candidates and some committeemen supporting them.

Neal admitted this part of the complaint could be the only one that will stick. But he noted all candidates were assessed equally for the sample ballots. Some had their names marked, others did not.

"This should be an open primary, just as it has always been," Schmidt said. "This was a party for all people and elections were open to anyone. Now, it looks like we have a closed party."

"This is worse than Cook County," Schmidt said about the control of elections there by the Democrats. "This is nothing more than dirty and rotten machine politics."

Something must be done to stop such things from damaging the party further, Schmidt said. That is why she is filing a complaint with the state.

"In the last election I and the party was criticized for endorsing candidates who lost," the party chairman said. "This time I am doing all in my power to see that the endorsed candidates win. I don't expect everyone to like that."

Candidates for the County Board are endorsed in all but Dist. 6. The so-called endorsed candidates are Ela Twp. Supv. Robert Grever and former Mundelein Mayor Colin McRae.

Absentee voting places

"Voters who will be out of the county on election day can obtain absentee ballots at the following township and municipal offices."

Township Offices

Antioch, Avon, Benton, Cuba, Deerfield, Ela, Fremont, Grant, Lake Villa, Libertyville, Shields, Vernon, Warren, Wauconda, West Deerfield and Zion.

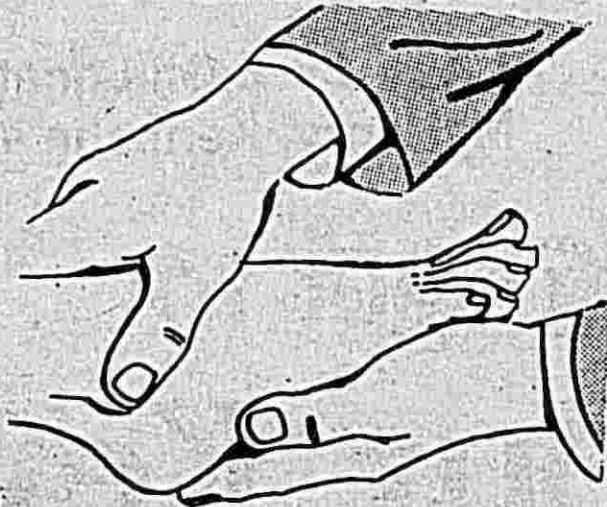

Municipal Offices

Buffalo Grove, Hawthorn Woods, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Mundelein, North Chicago and Zion.

These offices have ballots for the voters in their district only. Voting at these offices will conclude at the close of business on Monday, March 19.

Absentee ballots can also be obtained by mail by calling the Absentee Voting Division at (708) 360-5912.

AARP to fete St. Pat

Antioch Area Chapter 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons, including members for southern Wisconsin, will celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a party on March 13, at the Antioch Senior Center.

A corned beef and cabbage buffet will be catered by Maravella's Restaurant, Ingleside. Members will enjoy a sing-along planned by Agnes and Bob Allgire and Charley Youlden, a popular yodeler, will be back to sing some Irish medleys, for the enjoyment of all.

Youlden has been ill and unable to sing for the past year, so he will be given a big welcome. He has been missed by his many fans. All tickets have been sold for the party.

Antioch Exchange Club to sponsor Share Food

The Exchange Club of Antioch has announced that they will again sponsor Share Food. This is a program for everyone who is interested in stretching their food dollars.

For $14 and three hours of unpaid service to community, school, or church (ones choice), applicants will receive approximately one week's worth of food which includes such items as meat, vegetables, fruit, pasta and cereals.

To sign up for this program, bring $14 to one of the following locations by 1 p.m., March 15: Antioch Chamber of Commerce, 822 Main St.; 1st National Bank of Antioch, 485 Lake St.; Antioch Village Hall, 874 Main St. and State Bank of Antioch, 440 Lake St.

In Lindenhurst bring $14 to the Antioch State Bank, 2031 E. Grand Ave. and in Lake Villa bring money to the Lake Villa Twp. office, 22 Fairfield Rd.

Pick-up will be on March 31, at the Antioch Veteran's of Foreign Wars (VFW) Hall, 75 North Ave., Antioch.

For more information, call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce at (708) 395-2233 or Exchange Club President Claudette Skvarce at (708) 395-6744.

Additional monthly dates will be posted in businesses around Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst or call one of the numbers listed above or stop by one of the places of application.

Remember, Share Food is not a government subsidized program. There are no dues or extra fees nor is disclosure of income required. This is not a welfare program. Anyone can participate.

The Exchange Club of Antioch will participate in the 43rd Annual National Crime Prevention Week sponsored by the National Exchange Club. Antioch joins thousands of local chapters in their efforts to promote this year's theme, "Doing Drugs - the Biggest Mistake You'll Ever Make."

Wayne Hunter from MEG Force will speak to the Antioch Exchange Club about efforts to eliminate drug abuse, on

Exchange Club seeking community minded teens

The Exchange Club of Antioch is looking for names of high school students who provide unpaid church or community services. The Exchange Club will recognize these students at a special meeting in April.

To nominate a teen one feels deserves the recognition, submit the student's name, address, telephone number year in school, and a brief description of the service. Include nominator's and telephone number. The nomination should be sent to the Exchange Club of Antioch, P.O. box 3, Antioch, IL 60002. Or call Jim Lienhardt at work. (708)395-1730 for more information. The deadline is March 23.

According to Claudette Skvarce, Exchange Club president, "The Exchange Club already recognizes a student-of-the-month from Antioch Community High School for all-around good grades, school and community activities.

The Antioch Exchange Club meets every Tuesday morning at Struggles Restaurant at 7:15 a.m. for breakfast. Interested people are invited to attend.

Letter to the Editor

Lower speed limit

Editor:

I would like to see the speed limit lowered from 50 miles per hour down to 40 miles per hour on Deep Lake Rd. starting just south of Rte. 173 and continuing down until the road ends at Rte. 132.

Deep Lake Rd. is used as a main road to get into Illinois from Wisconsin. This increases the traffic flow in the morning and in the evening. With the speed limit being where it is now only encourages speeding. People are more apt to travel 60 to 70 miles per hour than the actual speed limit. Traveling at these speeds greatly increases the risk of an accident occurring. Also, at the same time that the traffic is increasing from the commuters from Wisconsin, children are standing by the side of the road waiting for the school bus to either pick them up for school or drop them off. I have seen people drive by these children at an estimated rate of at least 60 miles per hour. All it takes is one little swerve of a car and a number of children could be seriously injured or, worse yet, killed.

I have only lived off of Deep Lake Rd. for six months, but during those six months I have seen three accidents, one of them fatal. That, in my opinion, is far too many. I think that by lowering the speed limit to be a constant 40 miles per hour will help discourage speeding and the ultimate result will be less accidents, which will be a benefit to all.

Blast ordinance

Ames drops legal bomb in Bristol racetrack war

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The $8 million Bristol Racetrack controversy could be moving from a yelling to a legal phase now that the auto racetrack developer, Brainerd International of Minnesota, is talking about suing the town on the grounds that the Bristol's amusement ordinance is unconstitutional unless the track proposal goes through.

Brainerd is objecting to the ordinance's restrictions against noise, traffic amounts and the serving of alcohol, claiming that the local statute is beatable in a courtroom.

Early in February, Brainerd President David Ames told a gymnasium packed with residents that the design of the track would limit the noise factor as much as possible. He also said that no liquor would be served at the track.

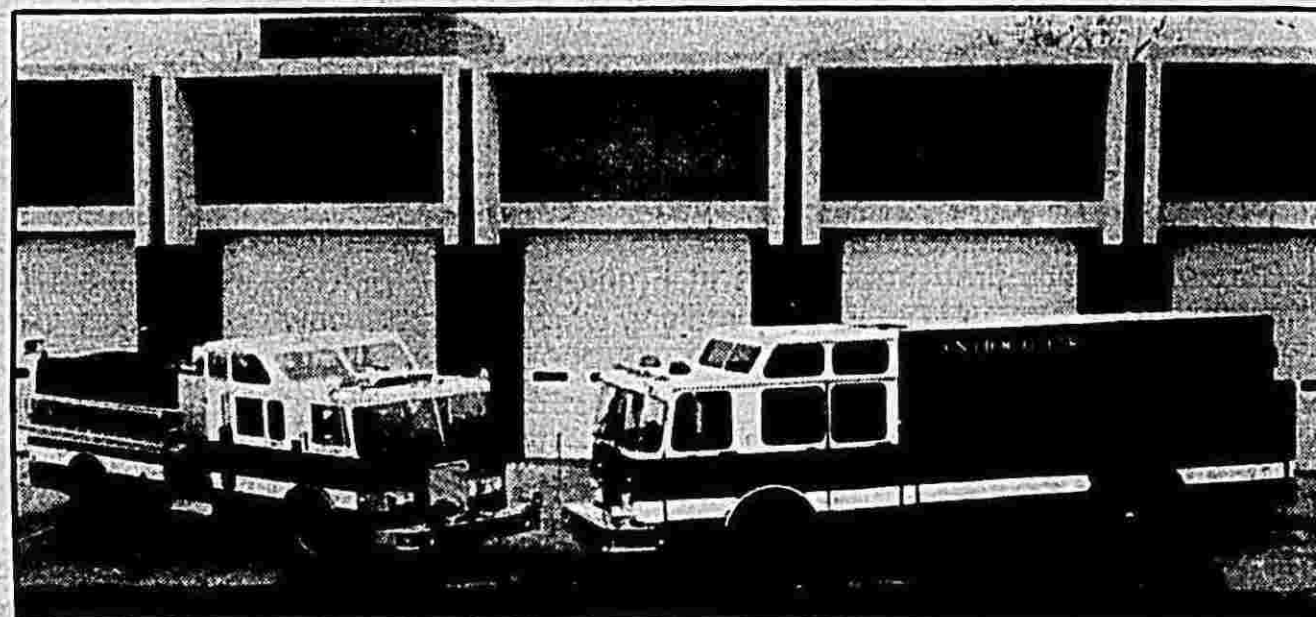

Ames added that he hoped to come to an agreement with the town board which would allow Brainerd to forgo paying the Bristol amusement tax in lieu of the other monies the race track would bring to the area.

Reportedly, the agreement to purchase acreage from Town Chairman Noel Elfering and Anthony Kordecki on the south end of Bristol, bordering Illinois, was made last summer in lieu of waiving the amusement ordinance.

Although the town board has approved a referendum on county zoning to go on the April ballot, before the last regular meeting of the board, a discussion concerning putting another referendum concerning the racetrack on the spring ballot was taken off the agenda by Town Chairman Noel Elfering who said he did so on the advice of the Town Atty. Cecil Rothrock.

At the racetrack explanatory hearing, Ames told the audience not to bring him into local politics when he was asked if he would OK putting the racetrack question on a referendum.

New firefighting equipment

The Antioch Fire Dept. has received two new pieces of firefighting equipment; a pumper/tanker, left, has a 1,250 gallon water tank and was purchased by the First Fire Protection Dist. of Antioch Twp., and a squad/pumper, purchased by the village, which features inside seating for 10 firefighters and a 20-foot extending light tower.

the village board also agreed to recommend a lowering of those buffer zone size requirements to a 75-foot minimum.

Trustee Don Amundsen was the only dissenter on the one-acre lots. At a previous board meeting he had recommended special consideration for the Red Wing Marsh area.

In other business, the board heard that long-time Antioch resident, one of the founders of the PM&L Theatre, Ken Smouse, is to be honored as an outstanding contributor to Lake County arts by the Lake County Arts Council, at the Lake County Museum, on Sunday, March 11, from 4 to 7 p.m.. The affair will be a wine and cheese tasting fundraiser for the arts council.

In her report on the parks program, Parks Dir. Theresa Weber told the board that the Antioch Lions Club would be presenting the village with a check for $20,000 towards the cost of the new bathhouse at the aqua center.

The board also approved the raising of the pool fees at the aqua center to $95 per season for those living outside the village, including township residents. Previously, township residents paid the same $75 fee as village residents do.

Drug Task Force trying to get curfews in 'synch'

By LE ANN HAMNIK
Lakeland Newspapers

A drug and alcohol task force made up of representatives from Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, and Antioch is currently evaluating existing curfew ordinances within the three villages.

The task force would like to see a more unified set of guidelines among village ordinances in order to maintain continuity between Antioch High School feeder communities.

According to Lindenhurst task force member and village trustee Carol Zerba, the differences between Lindenhurst's old ordinance and the one proposed are centered around time and age.

Under changes in the new proposal, Lindenhurst's curfew for persons under 17 years of age would be one hour later, midnight, on Fridays, and one hour earlier, 11 p.m., on Sundays.

Under the current law, any person under 17 is allowed to be out after curfew if accompanied by someone 18 years of age or older. With the proposed change, someone under 17 would have to be accompanied by a person 21 years old or more in order to be out past curfew. This escort must also be approved by a parent or guardian.

During a Lindenhurst committee meeting, Trustee Brian Smith said he would rather the age of the escort remain at 18.

Trustee Tom Berger also hypothetically questioned the legitimacy of the policy in instances where siblings, one sibling under 17 and one over 18, were approved by their parents to go to a late night concert together.

Other trustees asked how Lindenhurst's ordinance would apply to people just passing through the village.

Trustee Zerba said she appreciated the input from fellow trustees. Zerba also said she would like to hear what the residents have to say about the curfew.

Zerba will discuss the matter further with the task force.

Liz salutes teacher's innovative ideas

Carol Perry
I would like to devote a good portion of this week's column to a very energetic, dedicated, and innovative teacher. Sharon Jones is the L/D teacher at Grass Lake School. She joined the GLS teaching staff fresh out of college in 1985. During the 1988-89 school year, Sharon introduced the "Growing Up Well" program in the kindergarten through third grades. She organized a group of volunteers, who assumed the roll of clowns, to teach the youngsters about choices, peer pressure, and healthy habits. The program was so successful in these grades that Sharon expanded the program to grades fourth through eighth for the 1989-90 school year. While the medium of clowns is used in the lower grades, the fourth through eighth grade program utilizes volunteers, posing as themselves, to teach the students about self-esteem, drug and alcohol abuse, peer pressure, etc. At the beginning of the school year, Sharon conducts an all-day workshop in order to train the volunteers in the various aspects of the program. Then she helps schedule a team of volunteers for each grade level. In grades kindergarten through third volunteers meet with the students one half hour a week for six weeks. In grades fourth through eighth the sessions last for 45-minutes, one day a week, for five weeks. Sharon is truly a teacher who cares about all students in all ways and GLS is very lucky to have her aboard. Thanks for being your, Sharon, and keep up the good work!

Playground Mom
Pretty soon the staff at Grass Lake School will be getting wise as to the real reason I buzz in and out of school so often. That's right, it gives me through fifth graders scattered here, there and everywhere as they engaged themselves in a wide variety of free-time activities. They didn't stop the entire recess period. However, even something to share with all of you in my weekly ramblings. This past Thursday, I helped supervise the noon-time recess and had a great time doing so. Actually, the junior high students were a little easier to keep track of, as they broke into their various groups to either chit chat, play football, take a walk around the field, or play king of the hill on top of the snow mounds. The first though the students displayed an enormous amount of energy, the interacted well with each other and for the most part respected the rights of others. I naturally took an immediate, long lasting liking to all the students who took a moment from their fun activities to talk with me.

Card File Task

After recess duty, I appeared in Carol Perry's learning center as a TAP volunteer and typed some video card files for her. Who says you can't teach an "old dog" new tricks? After I finished the card file task, Carol put me to work on a computer. That's right, the Lizard was actually using a piece of complicated "modern" technology. This was amazing as I think I am the last hold out for "call waiting" and an answering machine. I do not believe in gadgets. So to get me to utilize a computer was a real feat and you know what? I really enjoyed it! I have one message for Carol and that is--"make sure you check over what I did. I hope I didn't end up erasing the whole disk." See, people, volunteering pays off. Maybe not in money, but definitely in experience. The problem is, if I learn the mechanics of a computer, I am sure I will be bugging Santa for an expensive Christmas present.

Chit Chat

Last, but not least, my day at GLS presented me with the opportunity to chit chat with a real fine lady. As I relaxed for a few moments in the lounge, Helen Olechny and I rambled on about this, that, and the other thing. Once again I was reminded how lucky the students, parents, and teachers are to have Helen aboard. As a teacher's aide, Helen truly enjoys helping them with some of their clerical duties. Equally as important, all of the students benefit from the "TLC" that Helen gives them and parents rest a little easier knowing that Helen is on duty to help watch over their little ones. Thanks, GLS, for another memory of a typical day in our small, friendly hometown school.

Fashion Show

On Feb. 26, the Antioch Women's Club participated in the Tenth Dist. Fashion Show and Luncheon of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. This gala affair was held at Allaguer's Fireside Restaurant in Northbrook. Clara Haling, secretary of 'Antioch Chapter AARP, and Nancy Zitkus, president of the Antioch Women's Club, were two of the lovely models in the show. The fashions were furnished by the Charter Club of the Northbrook Court Shopping Center. There were about 300 people in attendance and everyone had a real good time enjoying the fashions and luncheon menu. It is a fact that Clara Haling keeps herself mentally and physically fit. If Clara is not off on a nice vacation, or participating in the AARP All Stars Band, she becomes a model. Clara will never give into that beckoning rocking chair. Clara has to keep the band going in and about 20 years she can then assign a spot for me. Keep it up, Clara. You are an excellent role model for everyone!

Baby Boy

John and Pam Cardis are happy to announce the birth of John Raymond Cardis, Jr. John, Jr. was born Feb. 25 and weighed in at 10 pounds, 3 ounces. He made his arrival at Woodstock Memorial Hospital. Waiting anxiously to spoil the new baby are his sisters, Jenny, Jessica, and Jill and Nana (Bernice) Cardis is also very happy about her new grandson. Congratulations to you all!

4-H Club

The Lake County Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H. Program, offers a wide variety of activities. The embryology workshop is soon to begin. Hope you all signed up in time in order to participate. If you are interested in horses, circle the dates April 20 through 22 on your calendar. These are the dates of the 1990 American Youth Horse Council Symposium. This event will be held in conjunction with the 11th Annual Midwest Horse Fair in Madison, Wis. The symposium is targeted toward 4-H horse project leaders, equine educators, commercial company representatives, and horse enthusiasts. Advance registration fees are due by March 15, and are $25 for adults and $15 for youths. Registration information may be obtained by calling Ray Antoniewicz at (608)263-4300. Next, a variety of exciting workshops have been planned to take place at the Cooperative Extension Education Center on April 7.

A sample of 4-H projects and activities will be offered. Youngsters, ages eight to 19, and parents may select one workshop from each session. Participants who plan to attend all day should come prepared with a sack lunch. Beverages will be provided. Pre-registration is required and you must call (708)223-8629 by April 2 to register. Youth from Lake County will be attending 4-H Camp Shaw-was-nas-see, located near Manteno, Ill. Camp is during the week of June 24 to 28. The fee is $120 which include meals, lodging, and the general camp activities of swimming, crafts, nature, recreation, diving lessons, snorkeling, and water games; also rock climbing, riflery, archery, volleyball, softball, and gardening. A camp bus, leaving from the Lake County 4-H office, will transport youths to and from camp. A transportation fee will be charged. Campers registering before April 15 will receive a $10 discount. 4-H membership is not required to attend this 4-H camp. The camp is open to boys in grades three to seven. For further information call (708)223-8629.

Child Returns

Lake County Sheriff Clinton O. Grinnell has announced that a 17-year-old girl who was sought by the Lake County I SEARCH Unit has been located and returned to her family. Michelle Card, of Wildwood, had been reported missing Dec. 8. Reports indicate Card was transported to Chicago by her 22-year-old boyfriend, Ray Pellegrini.

Radon Meeting

Many people have become concerned about the possibility of the presence of radon in their home. To help county residents learn the "facts" about radon, the Univ. of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service will present a free program, "Radon in the Home" on Thursday, March 15 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the educational center in Grayslake.

LAKE & KENOSHA COUNTIES #1 CHOICE

Almond Rd. Preserve shrinks after board vote

The Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners took two actions concerning the planned Almond Rd. Forest Preserve at its last meeting.

The commissioners deleted a 4.5 acre site belonging to the Hope Presbyterian Church because the property is located north of a proposed four-lane highway bordering the Forest Preserve site.

"It is our hope that the Forest Preserve Board keep its commitment it made in October," Sue Simpson, an Arbor Vista resident, said.

A move to delay that consideration until the April meeting was rejected by an 11-10 vote.

"I have no struggle with it," F.T. "Mike" Graham, chairman of the Forest Preserve Board's Land Acquisition Committee, said.

Board member James Mitchell of Dist.

one asked if the land was in the right-of-way.

On another issue, plans to delete property of as much as 100 acres in the same area were rejected because commissioners want a commitment from the Illinois Dept. of Transportation on the exact location of a planned highway.

A minority report was submitted but rejected by commissioners by a 13-8 vote.

The minority report was signed by Land Acquisition Committee members C. Richard Anderson and Eleanor Rostron. The two made a motion to recommend to the full Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners that it amend the acquisition resolution for the Almond Rd. Forest Preserve Dist. to delete those lands north and west of the southern right-of-way of proposed FAP 420.

Pullman town topic for teacher Watt's address

"The Town That George Pullman Built" will be the program at the Grayslake Historical Society's March 14 meeting in the Grayslake Community Room located behind the police department.

Glenn Watt, a six-year teacher of history and geography at Grayslake Community High School, will tell the story of Pullman, a town of homes and factories built and owned by George Pullman and his Palace Car Co. His huge factories produced railroad cars, including the famous Pullman Sleeping Car, a new design of his, which gave him a virtual monopoly on the sleeping car business in the United States during the 1800s.

Watt's grandfather and uncle came from Scotland to this unique town south of Chicago to live and work. They were part of Pullman's plan to create an ideal work-community relationship. This relationship began to erode partly because of the power of the company's personal lives and several misunderstandings.

The March 14 meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public, as are all general meetings held the second Wednesday of the month.

Presenting one of the largest banks in the Midwest.

AMERICA

There are basically two kinds of bank customers.

This advertisement is for the one who prefers a bank with large resources, financial clout and expertise in all sorts of money management.

A bank, say, that in two short decades has grown to be one of the Midwest's biggest banks.

A bank that is one of the region's largest lenders (and a bank with a loan portfolio that has consistently outperformed most other banks, big or small).

A bank, in fact, that has been highly praised in Forbes magazine for its responsibility to shareholders and recognized as one of America's very best-run banks by U.S. Banker.

So, if you're the kind of bank customer who likes the power and deep pockets of a bank like ours, come see us soon.

If, on the other hand, you'd like a smaller bank with friendly local service, take a look at the advertisement to the right.

County to launch saving's bond drive

The 1990 U.S. Savings Bonds Campaign in Lake County will be launched at a kickoff breakfast Thursday, March 15 at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort.

Allstate Insurance Company is host to the event, which will bring together bond drive leaders from companies throughout the county and savings bond supervisors from financial institutions.

The bond campaigns are conducted by companies to encourage participation in the Payroll Savings Plan. Nationwide, over 48,000 companies offer this benefit to employees. More than $118 billion in Bonds are outstanding.

Fred Wright, executive vice president, Administration of Centel Cellular Co., will outline the bond drive strategies and incentives which enabled Centel to achieve 68 per cent participation among employees last year.

Michael Hoppe, supervisor, Customer Service of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, will report on new regulations and improved procedures for processing bonds purchased through payroll savings or over the counter at financial institutions.

William F. Fall of Washington, D.C., policy and planning manager for the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Dept., will provide details of the new income tax benefits received by bond buyers when the bonds are used for college education costs.

In addition, the 1990 U.S. Savings Bonds campaign movie starring Humorist Garrison Keillor will be previewed.

Presenting one of the smallest banks in the Midwest.

This advertisement is for those bank customers who like the idea of dealing with a familiar face.

The kinds of customers who place big stock in seeing the bank president at a Little League game or PTA meeting.

Who like knowing that the money they deposit with their bank stays in their community, helping finance a neighbor's business expansion or home mortgage. Or even a major civic improvement.

Who only feel comfortable asking for a personal loan from someone they know

Long Lake Improvement Assn. files land-buy request

A formal request was to be put before the land acquisition committee of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. Friday, March 9, for purchase of 83 acres of wetlands located on Long Lake in Grant Twp. at the mouth of Squaw Creek.

The request was prepared by President William

Kercher of the Long Lake Improvement and Sanitation Assn. Kercher said public ownership of the parcel is vital for maintaining water quality of Long Lake, a recreational lake surrounding by single family homes totalling more than 4,000 population.

All but about five acres of the parcel is under water. The small island of dry land is owned by Albert Barthel of Ingleside who has cleared brush and keeps a horse on the island.

Neighbors have protested that Barthel is creating an environmental hazard, but county building officials reported that the horse, a fence and other structures are legal under the parcel's agricultural zoning.

Association members won a victory Tuesday when they got an agreement from the building committee of the Lake County Board to put pressure on the state to force removal of the fence and structures because they are in the floodway.

Suzanne Harris, legislative chairman of the association, pointed out that permitting the fence and structures to remain in agriculturally zoned floodway is a dangerous precedent.

Dist. 5 County Board Rep. Carol Calabrese, building committee chairman, and members Dist. 4 Rep. Suzi Schmidt and Dist. 6 Rep. John Reindl supported the association's position.

Harris said the association's position was further strengthened by an agreement with the committee to have county building officers check with state and federal agencies before issuing permits to erect structures in floodways.

Stevenson presents 'A Midsummer Night's Dream'

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be presented at Adlai Stevenson High School of Friday, March 16 and Saturday, March 17, at 8 p.m., in the school auditorium. Admission is $2 and $3 for reserved seats.

Cast members for the production include: Marc Giampietro as Theseus (Duke of Athens), Deanna Klein as Egea (Mother of Hermia), Scott Murphy as Lysander, Jeremy Kruse as Demetrius, and Monica Holeczy as Philostrate (Mistress of Revels).

Donna Fasano will perform the role of Quince (Narrator), and Gregg Bagdade will play Snug (the Lion). Other performances include J. Taylor Rushing as Bottom (Pyramus), Josh Ferguson as Flute (Thisby), Greg Goldstein as Snout (the Wall), and Arnie Franks as Starveling (Moonshine).

Student directors for the production are Stacey Larson and Jocelyn Brody, and faculty director is Joel Johnson. Melissa Jacobs is technical director, and costume designer is Carol Hess.

Announcing... A UNIQUE NEW PODIATRY PRACTICE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD!

OVER 12 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Advanced Podiatry Group proudly opens its newest office in Lake Zurich.

Our philosophy is to provide patients with the latest enhancements in podiatric care, comfort and convenience - combined with experience you can trust.

SPECIALIZING IN OFFICE-BASED TREATMENT

Laser Beam Technique is the most sophisticated in-office treatment available today. It replaces the surgical scalpel with a concentrated beam of light that penetrates the troubled area. It's effective in treating problems such as warts, fungus and ingrown toenails, certain calluses and nerve tumors. Recovery is shorter which means a quicker return to normal activities including work.

Advanced Surgi-Care Technique is also an in-office procedure proven effective for treating bunions, hammertoes, corns, calluses, heel spurs and other related problems. This type of treatment minimizes discomfort and speeds recovery because pins and casts aren't necessary. Advanced Surgi-Care Technique is the practical alternative to relieving foot pain and avoiding a hospital stay.

FREE FOOT EXAM*

Your initial foot examination is absolutely free. Plus most procedures are covered by your health insurance - including Medicare. In addition, find out how you can qualify to have your entire insurance deductible waived.

'Closed' primary

Lake County Republican Chairman Robert "Bob" Neal prides himself with "living on the edge." That he does---with style. Now Neal is taking his party to the brink with a strategy of endorsing primary candidates early on and seeing that the chosen candidates are provided with funds and manpower through what he terms "private" sources. This new strategy for all intensive purposes has resulted in the demise of the long-standing Lake County GOP tradition of open primaries with access to the primary ballot to anyone who considers himself or herself a Republican.

Neal and his supporters view the early on endorsements as strengthening the party by offering to the voters qualified candidates and "guaranteeing" their election in November. We're not so sure. Quite the opposite could happen. Independent Republican candidates are challenging the new system, and a growing number of party regulars are fearful of a backlash against Neal's "closed that will be detrimental in the general election.

Charges of "Chicago style politics" have been leveled against Neal. Protests have been filed with the Illinois Election Commission. One angry independent Republican declared, "There is more freedom now in eastern European nations than the Lake County Republican primary." Strong words. Ominous words.

We can't help but feel that the wide open primary has served the Republican cause in Lake County well over the years. It is the strongest argument Republicans have against plaintive Democratic protests against machine politics. Neal and his cohorts have taken away the argument. Now, even members of his own party rightfully can be concerned about a monolithic political organization taking from right under their noses.

Time and the voters will decide if the highly orchestrated Republican primary being conducted this year is in the interests of good government in Lake County.

Exporting housing

Relief to the frustrating problem of lack of affordable housing for lower income families in this locality is coming from an unexpected source. The Zale Group of Buffalo Grove, high volume residential builders in Lake County and Chicago suburbs, is working on a project to produce 900 single family homes selling under $100,000 in central Kenosha County, just across the stateline.

Kenosha officials, still rebounding from the closing 18 months ago of the giant Chrysler plant, are in seventh heaven over the potential of a project that will be targeted at home buyers from both Wisconsin and Illinois. The Zale plan would be the largest planned unit development in Kenosha's history.

Availability of affordable housing for young couples, senior citizens, minorities and the poor virtually has dried up in Lake County due to a combination of skyrocketing land costs and an unstinting demand for upscale and luxury homes. There just doesn't seem to be any builders around here who are interested in the below $100,000 market, mainly because they can make more money building luxury housing. The dismaying thing is that officialdom either isn't aware or doesn't care about people who can't afford homes with three-car garages, master bedroom suits equipped with saunas, and Euro-style kitchens.

Another reality of the housing picture is that the supply of land in Lake County for large scale builders like Zale is shrinking rapidly. Big volume builders have to "reach out" for the priceless commodity---open space. In this locality, big parcels that can be purchased at the right price are located in Wisconsin or western McHenry County. It's a safe prediction that other big builders and developers in the Zale class will be looking beyond the boundaries of Lake County for land inventory.

What this means is that available, affordable housing in the future will be "farther away" for people here with modest housing needs. Employers here and in neighboring Lake County communities would do well to prepare for dealing with workers who will not only be commuting from Wisconsin but will be open to the blandishments from new Wisconsin businesses that are sure to follow offering opportunities to "work closer to home." The impact on the local labor supply could be devastating. The Lake County Economic Development Commission is well aware of this and undoubtedly will be addressing the problem of relocation of the local labor supply in the coming months.

Creation of a new ring of commuters isn't the concern. Relocation of the labor force is the underlying culprit. That's the problem facing political and business leaders. That's why we should be working on providing affordable housing opportunities instead of exporting available housing for young couples, senior citizens, minorities and the poor.

Privileged information

Editor:

Last week's political column referenced a township aid case, giving the name of the recipient and the amount paid. Information of this type is always considered privileged and should never have been given to the press, much less published. Rest assured, the information published did not come from the current administration.

Working for Seniors

Editor:

I'm one senior citizen who is going to vote for Grever and McRae for County Board. Bob and Colin, as Ela Township Supervisor and the former mayor of Mundelein, have demonstrated their concern for senior citizens. They have worked for our interests, buses to the stores, doctors, meals, programs, meeting places and a concern for our dignity.

That other ticket has been strongly against busing, senior meals, senior housing and anything senior! I could understand it if they just wanted to save tax money, but look at the record. Hansen has been paid every pay period as a county board member, but he has missed more than half the meetings. His Fire Dist. appointees cannot find ways fast enough to spend Fire Protection Dist. money.

Rhyme underscores reason for choice

Editor:

Yes Mr. Johnston, I hear you loud and clear. What you're telling and what you're not is falling on my ear. My name is Charley Johnston, and I'm a heck of a guy. I'm the very best candidate that money can buy. Don't believe it?...Ask the guys from the real estate board. Who want a man in their pocket on the Lake County Board. I'm not running this campaign for simple enjoyment. I'm in desperate need of steady employment. I'm now sporting a suit, fitted out in a jiffy. So next time I seek welfare I'll really look spiffy. One of the people supporting me is Mr. Bob Neal. Because he knows I'm the kind that can help cut a deal. On the sewage committee, I've been Mayor Schimpf's shill. So I guess we're to blame for your high water bill. Please overlook the fact that I've got a couple of DUIs. If I've made a few mistakes I apologize. Please give me a chance to help run the county. Forget the fact that I sure need the bounty.

My opinion Mr. Johnston? I would not hire you for the job. District 4 can do a lot better.

Leafblad banks on people power

by BILL SCHROEDER

For Larry Leafblad, the second time around in a quest for election to the Lake County Board is a different experience. In popular political parlance, call it a "kinder, gentler" campaign.

There's less razzle dazzle. For a candidate whose lifetime has been involved in high profile endeavors like broadcasting, advertising, public relations, and the entertainment business, the "new" Leafblad is remarkably restrained. Even as he talked about "picking up the steam" with March 20 primary balloting only days away, probably the best known candidate on a name recognition basis hewed to a strategy of issue oriented, people-to-people campaigning to win one of two Republican nominations in Dist. 4 of northwest Lake County.

"We're short of money. We're totally dependent upon the people," remarked Leafblad, who described the 1990 GOP primary as a "People vs. Neal" confrontation. The likeable office seeker, who narrowly missed a nomination two years ago, referred to GOP County Chairman Robert Neal, who has embarked on a new primary strategy where endorsed candidates are receiving both backing and money from party orchestrated private forces.

Both Leafblad and a growing number of independent Republicans regard this new strategy not only as a departure from tradition, but a reckless abuse of power.

"This is Chicago style politics and people in Lake County don't like Chicago style politics," asserted Leafblad.

When he talks to voters face to face, Leafblad stresses the need for a county-wide model impact fee ordinance to make for an even playing field for both developers and municipalities alike. "If elected, I'm going to work for better relations between county government and the villages. We simply can't afford to keep fighting. We've got to dissipate the polarity. Everyone loses when the system encourages playing developers off different villages."

An avowed environmentalist, Leafblad insists that there is a common ground where the desires for open space and a suburban lifestyle can be accommodated with frightening pressures for growth and development.

In a campaign where some of the office seekers are offering as credentials only their party loyalty and adherence to lock-step organization demands, Leafblad stands out as a candidate with sensible ideas and leadership qualities. Time will tell if his approach pays off.

statements. Therefore, I believe it is typical old school politics and back room deals that cause Mr. Geary's failure to take a strong stand against Mr. Balen.

In my area, Mr. Geary has been vanquished by the voters, and is not running for government office, but his allies, like Bob Boness, Ray LaCroix, Melinda Willen, Roy Olson, and Larry Leafblad, are still politically active. These supporters have never strayed from the Geary line. They have blindly supported his insensitive policies of land condemnation that are making Forest Preserve attorneys rich and small property owners poor.

Misusing our youth

Editor:

We have read in the newspaper that on March 6, the Libertyville High School's Strolling Strings will be featured entertainment to raise money for two politicians. I think this is inappropriate use of our children on a school night, especially where alcohol is being served. Calabresa and Coulson should be ashamed of themselves for this exploitation of the youth of Libertyville. We have read in the newspaper of the Calabresa-Graham use of good citizen's groups such as the soccer league, CLEAR, and homeowners association but this is a sham and all of the parents should be mad.

Facts not checked out

Editor:

As is typically the case with many items in Joe Soulak's weekly column (and I use this term loosely) Joe had his average amount of misinterpretation, faulty facts, insulting innuendo's, etc. in last week's edition. In regards to the Chili with Charly, it was held last Sunday, not Saturday as the inefficient Soulak mentioned twice. Maybe that's why Joe's mole saw a poor turnout, because he was there on the wrong day! Had he bothered to show up on Sunday he would have found a terrific crowd in size and enthusiasm!

As to Joe's mention of a truly personal incident in the lives of Carrie and Charly Johnston, it only shows that Joe's inability to ever fill Charly's shoes as a reporter has caused him to sink to a pitiful all time low. If he had bothered to check the facts, he would have realized this was a gross example of not getting the truth. Both Com. Ed. and the rent had been paid, but I guess these are unimportant issues when one is in a hurry to slander at any given moment. Say it ain't so, Joe!

Not playing politics

Editor:

Bruce Hansen is on the County Board and has attended only 44% of the meetings while collecting his full pay. He comes to meetings around here and talks about not spending and saving money, yet he can't spend county money fast enough. Why, if you let Hansen and Reindl they would have the board buy every vacant piece of property in the county for forest preserves.

Hansen's nominated appointees to the Lake Zurich Fire Protection Dist. would break the bank on personal expenses, meeting fees, legal fees, and property acquisition. Senior citizens who can't drive would have to walk for their medicine, no buses, no meals and no programs. In fact, Hansen has been instrumental in keeping senior housing out of Ela Twp.

Bob Grever and Colin McRae as Ela Township supervisor and the former mayor of Mundelein, have demonstrated strong fiscal responsibility. They haven't played the political pay-back game. They oppose all land deals. They want Fire Protection Dist.'s that are responsive to the people they serve. They want senior citizens to live in dignity without the fear of being stranded or not having proper meals. They want to promote senior citizen housing so folks can live out their years in their own community.

Report Graham accurately

Editor:

Hanging over F.T. "Mike" Graham is the on-going federal probe by the U.S. Attorney and FBI into Graham's tenure as Libertyville Township Supervisor while he was on the County Board in Dist. 5. Graham and the local press occasionally refer to the probe as politically motivated and centers around some frivolous deed such as tampering with a village trustee.

Come on, members of the press, where have you been?

The U.S. Attorney and the FBI are serious, thorough and investigate crimes of federal and civil importance. Attempted bribing of former Village trustees Aguirre and Kechn is not their venue. The State Board of Elections has acknowledged the Lake County State's Attorney and FBI are investigating election law complaints.

I have attempted, under the Freedom of Information Act, to review the Township's legal bills since October for both the Siemon, Larsen and Purdy firm and the Gardner, Carton & Douglas firm. Supervisor Swank tells me, as he will tell you, the U.S. Attorney and FBI have all the Township legal bills. What do you think they would be doing with them?

Do you think they would be looking at instances such as Dennis Ryan's Gardner bill for January and February, 1987, where the Township was billed and paid $18,294.40 but Gardner's office records show bills for 89.90 hours at $130 for a total of $11,687, a difference of $6,607.40 for two months. I wonder why? You all should know Ryan was legally entitled to only $6,293. Don't you think the U.S. Attorney and FBI would be looking at this?

Strange that Dennis Ryan "resigned" from Gardner at the time the federal probe began. I guess it could be just coincidental! Is there something missing from Gardner, Carton & Douglas' account for C.L.E.A.R.?

Somewhere in your current reporting you are forgetting the allegations of General Assistance fraud. Perhaps the scope of the Graham probe was indicated last July when Lake County turned the investigation over to the federal authorities because statutes governing mail fraud, bank fraud, extortion and racketeering are better suited to the Graham investigation.

Nowhere did I hear or read any prosecutor talking about "tampering with an elected official." Only Graham keeps directing the press to that impropriety. I think you would be accurate if you report the alleged Graham crimes of mail fraud, bank fraud, extortion and racketeering.

Draft sensible budget

Editor:

As everyone knows, President Bush has "wisely" made cuts in all the wrong places in his 1990 budget. I had recently graduated high school and at that time it was hard enough to get financial aid, but now with the President reducing government aid to students my chances of getting any help is all but hopeless.

I have some suggestions for next year's budget. First, how about cutting a little more into the defense budget, two percent is nice, but let's be realistic. Throughout the past year the world has witnessed many changes in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. Especially now, when the Soviet Union is willing to loosen up, don't you think we could do a little better? After all, how many uses are we going to have for a stealth bomber that is well behind schedule, will probably never be used, and has a price tag in the billions? Also, there is the Star Wars Project, by the time it is finished current technology will have made it obsolete.

Secondly, let's quit pumping money into dead end investments. Take for example Brazil, with all the money that has been loaned to them they are still in the same situation beforehand and they can't even pay back on the interest. Any business professor will tell you that if it has no chance of bearing any fruit, it isn't worth a second thought.

Let's put the money where it is really needed, behind the future of the nation, it's children. With the way things are going today, America will be second at everything.

Propose local recycling

Editor:

The landfill problem facing us today is forcing everyone to be more acutely aware of the amounts of solid waste we are generating on a daily basis, thus the recycling programs going into effect all over the county.

The Village of Wauconda has recently put a recycling program into place. The problem with such a program is that an outside company has been hired to haul all of the material from Wauconda to Chicago. I realize the company hired has expertise in waste management, however Wauconda has a recycling center of its own on the north side of the community.

I would like to propose a plan allowing a company, or the recycling center itself, to haul the recyclable material from my community to the center a few blocks away versus 40 miles away.

Recycling locally will keep operational costs down, create more jobs, and provide more profit to be put back into the community.

I would like to begin informing my neighbors of the details involved in local recycling such as: cost of them, days of pick-up, and the supply of bins in which materials will be collected. After becoming informed, I hope the community will take this opportunity to get involved in decisions affecting all of us, or decision will be made for us in the near future.

The Village of Wauconda is presently taking bids for recycling programs by outside companies to come into unincorporated neighborhoods, like ours. Programs are expected to begin this summer.

Student beautification

Editor:

A considerable amount of paper and other debris accumulates on our school grounds, particularly along fence-lines. An avenue should be made available for students to clean the areas periodically. This would enhance the appearance and increase pride in the schools. A heightened sense of ownership would result if the students were responsible for making their schools look better.

A different class each week could use their gym period. With supervision, to pick up paper, cups, cans, snack bags, candy-wrappers, etc. If there were eight gym classes during a week, each class would get the opportunity to clean up about every two months. Each class would then be responsible for clean up approximately four times during the school year.

The drawbacks should be minimal. Supervising just one class at a time should not pose too much of a problem. The extra trash bags required should not cost too much. This project would give students a better feeling about their schools. Peer pressure should result in less clean up being required. The change of pace would be welcomed by most students. All directly concerned (students, faculty, and parents) would get an upwelling of pride because their school is looking better. Everyone, including neighbors and passers-by would benefit from this do-it-yourself beautification program.

Comes the revolution

Editor:

As I sat in the midst of the audience during the Dist. 116 School Board meeting, I found myself wondering. I looked at the angry faces of "the public" I wondered what the "atmosphere" must have felt like when Russia had its "glorious revolution" of 1917. Have the tables now turned? Could it be that we in Round Lake, like the Bolsheviks, want to destroy everything because we trust no one? Can we not grasp the implications of attempting to run our schools on a deficit basis? Do we think that by virtue of our "will" we can shape reality as we please? We are acting as though we believe that ignorance is power.

Forget for a moment the events in eastern Europe. At issue is whether we as Americans have an aptitude for democracy. Democracy requires a modicum of good will; the willingness to believe your neighbor is capable of exercising acceptable judgment in the discharge of his or her responsibilities. As a society, people together, must believe that their institutions are worthwhile and that they can make those institutions work. Generalized rancor and indiscriminate contempt, vitiates this confidence in the value of our institution of public education and demoralizes those of our neighbors who must make this institution work. Plato stated that democracy was just another word for "mob rule." Are we about to prove him to be right?

Irritating motorists

Editor:

Just think we only have a year and a half to go before the road and bridge construction is finished on Rte. 12 just north of Fox Lake. What a relief that will be for those of us who live between the bridge and Fox Lake Rd.

Or maybe I should say a relief for the motorists who always seem to be stuck driving behind us all of the time. Yes, you are the motorists who get aggravated because you have to wait for us to make a left turn onto our streets where we live. You are also the ones who get frustrated when the traffic is backed up for a mile and you have to let us turn onto Rte. 12. I really wish I could imagine how angry you would get if you had to pull over on the other side of the barricades to let emergency vehicles through.

The thing that irritates me about you motorists is that you have forgotten that the construction is going to provide us with improved roads. Sure, now it takes more time to get where you want to go but that is why you leave earlier. After the construction is completed, there will be four open lanes again, plus turning lanes (so we can turn left without inconveniencing you), and a brand new pothole-free bridge. At least the state did not close this off and make a detour down Grass Lake Rd. Just think of how much extra time you would need for traveling then.

I have to admit that living on a side road in the middle of this mess is a pain, but I am not moving my house because of it. I am just waiting to see how much aggravation you motorists will have left when summertime comes around with the really heavy traffic. In the meantime, keep making those frustrated faces that I can see when I look in my rearview mirror; and I will keep smiling because I know that the construction will be complete in a little more than a year.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

If you believe what the developers and anti-open spaces say, the Forest Preserve Dist. is running roughshod over land owners. For the past several years we have been led to believe the district is using condemnation to acquire thousands of acres of valuable land for pennies on the dollar, throwing the county further into debt.

Nothing could be further from the truth, says board member John Reindl. The rural Mundelein resident and his often-criticized counterparts are spreading the message they are really good guys in white hats. Figures for 1989 bear them out.

Last year the Forest Preserve Dist. acquired 82 parcels totaling 1,794 acres in nine townships. Only two were by condemnation. In 10 other cases lawsuits were filed, but resolved before trial. All other purchases were completed via negotiation between a willing buyer and willing seller.

These 1,794 acres were purchased for a little over $23 million or about $13,500 per acre. Which still leaves plenty of money in the Forest Preserve bank account to acquire even more land for future generations to enjoy.

This isn't what opponents of the Forest Preserve Dist. want the public to believe. But the facts speak for themselves.

Irish or not, don't forget the annual corned beef and cabbage dinner-dance of the Wauconda Twp. Republican Club. It will be Saturday, March 17, at the Wauconda American Legion Hall, Main St., Wauconda. Serving is from 7 to 8 p.m. with dancing afterwards.

This is a traditional event no self-respecting Republican or Irishman would miss. It's been happening for two decades, reminds club President Steve Barans.

Endorsements made by the Republican Party in Lake County have angered more than a few people. One of the maddest is Jack Roeser of Barrington. The vice president of the Ela Twp. Taxpayer's Assn. says his group has been responsible for stopping tax increases in that township.

He is also head of another organization. It is the Lake County Baer for Governor Committee with headquarters in North Chicago. It is promoting the gubernatorial candidacy of Jim Baer, the Hinsdale conservative who is criss-crossing the state with documentation that his opponent, Jim Edgar, has supported tax hikes.

"Even though we do not have the army of patronage workers to campaign for us as Edgar does," Roeser said of the secretary of state, "we still intend to run a credible campaign in Lake County."

"We have an advantage in that Baer opposes tax increases, so he is easier to sell to voters," Roeser said. "People are raving mad at Edgar for supporting additional tax increases."

The campaign was formed in response to the Lake County Republican Central Committee's endorsement of Edgar for governor. "I do not know what criteria the federation used in endorsing Edgar, but it sure was not the Republican platform," Roeser said. "Edgar is opposed to everything we believe in as Republicans."

Baer said he entered the governor's race after failing to convince Edgar more taxes are not in the best interest of Illinois.

This is the kind of election Sheriff Clinton Grinnell doesn't like. Almost every week he has had to defend some action, practice or person in his office.

Private eye Donald Mason of Lake Villa is lobbing the cannon balls in his second (third or fourth, depending on who's counting) attempt to become sheriff.

Among the latest are the commingling of court security fees Mason says has led to illegal spending, the transfer (or rustling) of 34 neglected sheep and goats to Grinnell's Fremont Twp. farm when an evicted family refused to take them back and off-duty sheriff's deputies helping Chief Deputy Willie Smith build a home in unincorporated Lake County. (The explanation is they were merely helping a crane driver find his way at night.)

Specifics are lacking. Mason tosses them out and then challenges reporters to track them down or the Lake County state's attorney to prosecute them.

Either lawyers in this part of the world don't care who is elected on Tuesday, March 20 judicial ballot or are too lazy.

Last month lawyers throughout the state were asked to participate in a poll on candidates in the March primary. The 12 to 15 questions covered everything from integrity and temperament to ability and court management.

Most lawyers in the state had something to say about races in their areas. But not in the 2nd Dist. Appellate Court Dist. of Lake, McHenry, DuPage and adjoining counties. The same in the 19th Judicial Circuit of Lake County where Steven E. Walter of Fremont Twp. is running unopposed.

"Too few responses were received for the poll to be considered valid," was the notation for these races.

The 2nd Appellate Court has some formidable figures. Republicans John Nickles of Batavia, Lawrence A. Smith Jr. and Anthony Mannina of Woodridge are running for state Supreme Court George Lindberg's old seat. In another good 2nd Appellate Court race, Lake County's own Jack Hoogasian of Lake Forest is running against John R. Bowman of Hinsdale for the former seat of V. Hopp.

But it would seem nobody cares, beginning with the lawyers who work with these fine men.

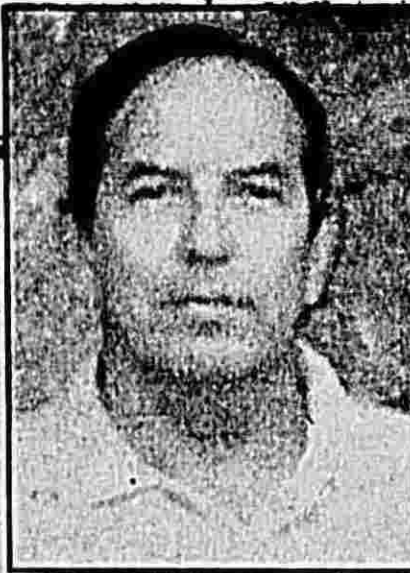

One candidate for election in the March primary says he is the only person on the ballot endorsed by President George Bush.

Rich Whitney, who is running for precinct committeeman in Libertyville, is using Bush's endorsement on his campaign literature. "I support your Republican efforts in Lake County," are the words Bush reportedly used when visiting this area in 1988. At the time Whitney was Lake County coordinator for the Bush presidential campaign. The two had their picture taken together, which Whitney uses in his campaign handout.

The would-be committeeman, who is also a deputy sheriff, has the endorsement of Sheriff Clinton Grinnell and Libertyville Twp. Supv. Ralph Swank Jr.

Cole Akins made headlines last spring when he succeeded the retiring George Scherer after something like 18 years in the mayoral office.

Cole Akins

James Baer

Donald Mason

Then came the firing of Police Chief John Robinson with a few less years on the job.

Headlines were made again about nine months ago with the naming of Libertyville police officer Ino Saldivar to succeed Robinson.

Saldivar did some nice things, like form the HAWKS (Home Awareness Watch Club Society), a citizen group to assist the police.

Meanwhile, the new village board and mayor started going behind closed doors more frequently to talk.

Once it was to kick the HAWKS out of their Police Dept. meeting room. The mayor said something about insurance or liability.

Last week it was to fire Saldivar. The mayor said he did it because morale in the Police Dept. is at an all-time low. The real reasons are deeper and more involved. Meanwhile, Saldivar is out of a job and has no hope of returning to Libertyville where he spent 13 years.

Just as Saldivar is out in the cold, so is the public. Each time there is an executive session they are kicked out of the tiny village hall with its space limitations. Press and public must stand outside in warm weather and cold while the village board discusses hot issues inside. An hour or two in frigid winter weather is enough to send most people home early, which effectively eliminates any response or reaction.

Bad things are being said about Donald Mason, who wants to be the next sheriff. By now most everyone has heard about charges he had sex in a squad car with a Grayslake woman while an on-duty deputy sheriff, had been arrested for bad checks and fraud, had filed for bankruptcy, had his car repossessed and is now involved in a dispute surrounding the sale of the Pub and Grub restaurant.

His deputy sheriff running mate, William Harder, is not without his problems, either, according to information provided by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. He had a $71,000 mortgage default in 1984 and failed to pay taxes involving a Wisconsin business he once owned. He also was arrested for shoplifting in 1980, according to the sheriff. It was for taking once cucumber from the Piggly Wiggly store in Pleasant Prairie, Wi.

in the Dist. 4 County Board race are touting their childhood in campaign literature. Incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen's says: "Originally from Browning, Ill., where she began working working in her parents' IGA retail grocery store for 25 cents an hour when she was six, she graduated from Rushville High School in 1960." Charlie Johnston's literature says: "Originally from Birmingham, Ala., his father, a laborer and union leader with the United Rubber Workers, moved to Lake County when Charlie was just four." Literature for Ela Twp. Supv. Robert Grover, candidate for the County Board in Dist. 6 talks about his background too. "One of 15 children brought up on a dairy and hog farm southeast of Lake Zurich, Grever learned the importance of hard work early in life. In 196 he became an independent contractor...At the high point of this career he owned a construction company with 55 employees and $5 million in annual sales." County Board member John Balen of Waukegan will not be censured by his Democratic Party peers for a racial slur made during an early February meeting. Asked how he and Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago get along, he said: "Bot of us are compatible ego wise. We've already agreed he doesn't want to be governor of Illinois and I don't want to be mayor of Chicago." Champaign signs for the major candidates in the Tuesday, March 20, primary started going up this week. Republican Party Chairman Robert Neal promises there will be lots of them for the GOP candidates. Why weren't the signs up before? "Anyone who puts up a sign a month before the election is a novice," Neal said. He also promises the GOP's signs will be down within one week of the primary. There is a new term of endearment for the open space advocates on the County Board. Tasteful decorating top notch with Michael's

by MALENA SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Driving through northern Lake County one might not be expecting to find the finest in coordinating colors, patterns and designs. Gently rolling hills, beautiful horse farms and ancient oak trees are at home here. But if you head east on Grand Ave., past Great America and under Rte. 41, you can expect to find a comfortable experience in home decorating.

Michael's Classic Interiors at 3701 Grand Ave. in Gurnee provides tasteful interior decorating in a warm setting. Michael Galati, owner, is not new to the area of interior design. He learned all aspects of the business by working for 20 years along side his father in the family owned business. Their store was in the Chicagoland area around the Austin district. Eventually, Galati opened his own store in Melrose Park and for 14 years developed practical experience along with a very loyal clientele.

So why the move to Lake County? Galati gives two good reasons for the transplant. First, the Gurnee/Northern Lake County area offers a great growth perspective. Many developers are seeing the beauty of this location and encouraging growth. Wherever there are new houses there are decorating needs. And Michael's Classic Interiors feels ready to meet them. Secondly, Galati feels at home. Many of his wife's family live in Lake County. "I really love it out here," he adds. "It's open and beautiful. It would be very difficult to go back there after living here."

Michael's Gurnee store had its grand opening in May, 1989. Within the first six months, he turned a profit, a great statement for a newly established business. And Galati is a likeable person, someone you can be at home with in asking decorating advice.

So does one have to be rich to utilize the services of an interior decorator? "Not so!" states Galati. He encourages anyone to stop by and give his place a try. It's the person's desire for things to look nice that counts. Galati adds, "We cater to all classes of clientele. Most people simply come in looking for window coverings. People are in the market for new ideas."

Among the many services that he specializes in are upholstery, wall coverings, window treatments and custom furniture. One of the unique features that he carries is custom colored carpeting. If a customer cannot find a specific shade of carpeting to go with other pieces in the house/room, they can come in and custom color the carpeting to their specifications. This separates him from the bigger carpet companies that may carry many colors but cannot specifically match a certain shade.

Galati's store carries a wide variety of samples with spiralling racks of the finest satins and chintzes for drapery materials.

Great ideas in valances cover the walls. And he carries many respected names such as Waverly, Levolor, and Robert Allen Fabrics to mention a few.

So whether you're in search of decorating advice for one window, one room or for an entire house, give Michael's Classic Interiors a try. It's the place in Gurnee to get good ideas.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Antioch

Kaufman Lasman Realty Corp. of Chicago has been named exclusive listing agent for prime property on the Chain O'Lakes recreation site at 25705 W. Rte. 173, Antioch, announced David M. Kaufman C.C.I.M., president of the firm. The 9.6 acres of prime development land features 1,200 feet of water frontage on Lake Marie Channel and 950 feet of frontage on Rte. 173. It is the last large development site left on the famous Chain O'Lakes vacation spot. The asking price for the Chain O'Lakes property, currently being operated as a resort, is $960,000. Paul G. Demik, senior vice-president of Kaufman Lasman, is the listing agent.

Lake County

In order to meet the challenge of better serving their customers now and in the future, First of America Banks, Grayslake, Libertyville and Mundelein, were combined to form First of American Bank-Northeast Illinois, N.A. This affiliation resulted in additional resources, expanded lending power and increased banking convenience of their customers. As an extension of this progressive customer service and convenience strategy, the banks have announced the merger of First of America Bank-Zion with First of America Bank-Northeast Illinois effective March 5. With assets totaling more than $475 million, First of America Bank-Northeast will be one of the largest banks in Lake County.

Libertyville

Circuit Works Corp. has expanded its manufacturing and office space by more than 50 percent by adding 1,265 sq. ft. at its headquarters, 1840 Industrial Dr., Libertyville. The company began operations in 2,424 sq. ft. of space on Labor Day last year to assemble surface mount circuit boards, said Tom Thompson, president. He said the new space is required for manufacturing purposes because current sales are more than double the most optimistic forecast made before Circuit Works started its business. Additional sales are expected before the first full year of operations ends, he added. To accommodate the growth, Circuit Works will add a second sophisticated cleaning system along with other equipment required to meet the orders.

Lincolnshire

A new company called Ardis, formed by Motorola, Inc., and International Business Machines Corporation, has established corporate headquarters in 25,000 sq. ft. of space at 300 Knightsbridge Parkway in the Lincolnshire Corporate Center, Lincolnshire. Ardis through radio communication signals will provide computer information to people who are in the field. These people include those in sales, engineering and other disciplines who work outside of the office but require home office support. Ardis, to begin full commercial operation in early April, 1990, allows companies to provide their growing numbers of mobile workers interactive access to various computer data bases and information systems via two-way radio data terminals, while in a building or on the street. The company began this winter with 70 employees and by year-end will have 125 people, said Jack W. Blumenstein, president of the new company. Most of the new hires will be in marketing and network operations.

Gurnee

Illinois Bell Telephone has purchased 1.2 acres in Gurnee as a site for a 2,500 sq. ft. remote switching facility to serve the growing communities nearby. The site, east of Hunt Club Rd. and north of Grand Ave. (Rt. 132), lies at the periphery of Gurnee Mills Shopping Center, currently under development. Scott M. Pfister of Stein & Co. Real Estate Services, Inc. represented Illinois Bell Telephone. Tom Parker of Western Development Corporation represented the seller, Gurnee Properties Associates Limited Partnership.

Small business learns what big business wants

About 90 minority women and small business representatives attended the Lake County Economic Development Commission's conference on "How to Access the Bid Process." Attendees received some first hand information from corporate purchasing agents on how to sell to Lake County's largest firms.

Wil Stewart, manager of Minority and Small Business Development at Abbott Laboratories said,

"Be persistent and have patience." Stewart emphasized that selling to a large corporation is competitive but his company has a commitment to assist small business by using them as vendors. "We are interested in quality first," Stewart said, "and price second."

Gerald Trotter, purchasing manager at Kemper Group in Long Grove said his firm reviews small businesses which are new bidders and a site visit is routine. "We look at your plant, financial statements, even labor relations," Trotter told the audience, "because we want to find out how sincere the owner is about doing business with Kemper. He must sell his product or service to us."

"Know the business you are attempting to sell to," was the advice of Richard Neidhardt, group purchasing manager of ingredients at Sara Lee Bakery in Deerfield. He told attendees at the conference it would pay for them to investigate the firm they intend to pitch before doing an interview. "It really shows when a new bidder comes in and makes statements which indicate he or she knows nothing about us," Neidhardt said. "Assess where you might fit into the company's needs. With us quality is the benchmark, before the price." He also advised bidders to get the specifications for materials, equipment, food stuffs, etc.

One of the corporations new to Lake County as a major manufacturer, namely Motorola, was represented by James Crego, materials manager of the North American Subscriber Division which makes the firm's cellular telephones. Crego told participants, "We're looking for a few good suppliers." One of the unique features of Motorola's buying is that it uses dual suppliers for the key components for the telephones. This is to prevent a shut-down of an assembly line. For maintenance, repair and other (MRO) necessities

Crego said a letter of intent is required from small businesses wishing to get on the bid list. "Our list is updated each year," Crego said, "but we expect the best in class, quality, price and delivery. We will look for financial stability in your company. You will be checked. What we want is a partnership in terms of working together, not just a buyer-seller relationship."

Panelists suggested that most large corporations have a minority and small business representatives within the purchasing and this might be the person to contact for an initial review of policies.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Tax-free municipal bonds, or "munis," traditionally have been one of the safest ways to invest your money. They still are. If, as with any investment decision, you exercise reasonable caution.

Munis offer the advantage of tax-free income because they are generally issued to finance public projects. Municipal bonds are not, however, issued by the federal government and should not be confused with government bonds.

A recent edition of Changing Times cited 123 issues valued at $1.1 billion that defaulted in 1987.

Most defaults involve high-risk issues. Investors can save anxiety and probably some money if they read the prospectus on a new issue or the bond indenture of a bond already on the market. The bond indenture or prospectus tells who's issuing the bond, what the money is used for, how it is paid and much more.

Municipal bonds, when prudently bought, can offer years of tax-free income and security. They are excellent investments. But seek the help of a trusted broker to buy your bonds and make sure you do enough homework to protect your safety.

Why should you choose an emergency room before you need one?

Because all emergency rooms are not alike!

The Emergency Room at Saint Therese Medical Center is proud to be the only Level II Trauma Center in North Lake County. Level II is a special designation awarded by the State of Illinois to emergency rooms that meet a long list of rigorous standards.

So, if one of life's emergencies occurs—big or small—you can be assured that Saint Therese is bound by the State to provide the highest level of care in the area—24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

And, to round out our emergency services, the Saint Therese Area Treatment Satellite on Rt. 59 at Rt. 132 in Lake Villa is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., seven days a week.

Don't ignore employees' problems ?

by KENNETH KAYE

Here's a cost you didn't figure into your business plan: the cost of ignoring a personal problem in a key employee.

Suppose that Jim, your vice president for marketing, has a drinking problem. You don't think he's an alcoholic. You wouldn't want to say so, anyway. But once in a while you wonder what customers think about the martini he orders at lunch. Every few weeks his wife phones on Monday morning, "Jim's in bed with the flu again." And (particularly bulimia), drain time and sap efficiency. All these problems demand that an employer take a sympathetic but firm stand. All are guaranteed to become worse if you don't.

Yet these problems often aren't confronted in the workplace. Often the more troublesome they are, along with the anger they generate, they also stimulate the reaction of feeling sorry for the person and wanting to protect him or her from public acknowledgement. You may wonder what counter accusations your continue to make a place for him somehow. So many of my clients tell me they "hope Jim will realize he's got a problem, and want to do something about it himself." He won't.

Being kind, generous, and patient, unfortunately, contributes to the problem. Far from helping Jim, you're making his problem worse as well as putting your whole business at risk.

How can a small company, without a full-function human resources department, get professional advice that is tailored to the particular disorder and your particular situation? Call several of the well-advertised programs in your vicinity - those whose ads refer to the problem you suspect you see - and ask each of them to send you literature specifically for employers. (Shopping around is just as appropriate in this area as it would be with any vendor.) Also raise the point with your management advisors or any psychologist who has worked with your business and knows its organization dynamics.

Editor's note: Kenneth Kaye, Ph.D., of Chicago, is a consulting psychologist to family-owned businesses, author of Family Rules and a frequent contributor to Psychology Today, Family Business, and other magazines. He is a member of a panel of experts preparing This Way to Wealth.

Can Ex-Employees Look at Personnel Files?

Q. An ex-employee of mine, who has been gone for two years, wants to see his personnel file. Do I have to let him see it?

A. No, because that employee has been gone for more than one year. The Employee Access to Personnel Records Law states that terminated employees only have access within one year following termination. Without a court order you would not have to allow him to see his file or give him a copy.

This Way to Wealth

he embarrassed everyone at the sales meeting last fall.

If Jim weren't such a bright guy, loyal to the company, and ambitious, it might be easier to confront him about this. "No more drinks at lunch, no more extended weekends, or you're history."

If he weren't such a nice guy, you wouldn't be so concerned about his feelings. Unfortunately, he's a valued member of the team; you're grateful to him for past contributions.

Thanks to the media in recent years, most of us are familiar with how chemical dependence progresses. The victim - fir it isn't a moral failing, it's an illness to which the chemically dependent person has fallen victim - needs increasing dosages of the drug to feel any effect, and is less and less able to function without it. The problem never goes away. Ignored or denied, it always gets worse.

Fortunately, an employer is the single most powerful person who can intervene, together with the family, if possible, and put an end to the denial process. The threat of losing his job is most likely to precipitate the major crisis Jim needs before he'll acknowledge his powerlessness over alcohol and commit himself to treatment.

The same holds for users of all the products marketed so effectively by the $150 billion U.S. narcotics industry, as well as amphetamines, valium, and other prescription drugs. Alcoholism alone costs U.S. business about $100 billion every year in lost time, accidents, and sickness; narcotics users are now estimated to cost another $100 billion.

Other kinds of personal problems - some even more difficult to cure, others easier - are similarly cancerous. These are gambling addiction, compulsive spending, chronic lying and cheating, and what we psychologists call "character disorders" (for example, paranoid personality disorder) all take a terrible toll on co-workers and on the employer's business. Eating disorders, too confrontation could trigger. And you might feel guilty about the possibility of ultimately having to fire someone who has worked for you a long time.

All these reservations are magnified tenfold if the employee or business partner is also a member of your family, as is often the case. You may think, "He could never make it anywhere else," so you'd better

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By
Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: What is conjunctivitis?

ANSWER: Conjunctivitis, also known as "pink eye," is a term used to describe the inflammation of the conjunctive, a thin, filmy membrane that produces mucus to lubricate the eye's surface. The conjunctive is filled with tiny blood vessels. When it becomes inflamed, these blood vessels enlarge and become more visible, hence the term pink eye. Other symptoms include discharge from the eyes and itching. These symptoms last for up to two weeks.

Conjunctivitis may be caused by bacterial infections or viruses. Both types are highly contagious among children and adults. Other people should take great care to avoid coming into contact with discharge from the patient's eyes.

Because bacterial and viral conjunctivitis are treated with different techniques and medications, people with pink eye symptoms should visit an ophthalmologist for diagnosis and treatment.

Little Fort Chapter celebrates anniversary

The World can change a great deal in 16 years. Sixteen years ago in Gurnee, Great America didn't exist, Nixon was leaving the White House, and the Little Fort Charter Chapter, Gurnee, of the American Business Women's Assn. (ABWA) was in its infancy.

At the association's anniversary celebration meeting, members and guests revisited the chapter's early beginnings.

In 1974, Little Fort was formed as an expansion chapter to ABWA's Waukegan Chapter. Nineteen transferred members from the Waukegan Chapter and eight new members comprised the new chapter. Three of the charter members remain active in Little Fort. They are: Ann Doddington of Waukegan, Ola Stoner of Grayslake, and Betty Hickey of Gurnee, each of whom has been chosen Woman of the Year in the past by its members.

With the pounding of the gavel in February, 1974, Little Fort Charter officially began its first meeting. Betty Hickey served as president that first year. Members' hearts were in the right place that first year and raised a few hundred dollars towards scholarships for women through the sale of raffle tickets, a style show, tupperware party and white elephant sales.

The few hundred dollars has grown into thousands of dollars awarded in scholarships over the years through the group's various fund-raising efforts. This year alone, Little Fort plans to award $7,000 in scholarships and grants.

The national organization of ABWA was founded in 1949 to bring together women of diverse backgrounds to provide opportunities for them to help themselves and others grow personally and professionally through leadership, education, networking support and national recognition. Current membership is 100,000 with 2,100 chapters nationwide.

Little Fort Charter Chapter invites all interested women to join them at their next meeting on Wednesday, March 21 at 6 p.m. at The Diplomat. For further information or reservations, call Betty Hickey, membership chairman at (708) 662-7727.

Kemper awards employees

Seventy-two employees of the Kemper National Insurance Companies based in Long Grove were selected as honorees in the companies' second annual Kemper Salute program. The program recognizes and rewards employees nationwide for their outstanding work efforts.

During an awards ceremony, each honoree was presented with $1,000 and a 14-karat golf lapel pin.

"The key to the '90s at Kemper National will be top quality people. This year's Salute award recipients are examples of the kinds of employees we're talking about," said Gerald L. Maatman, president of Kemper National.

The Kemper National Insurance Companies, which employs more than 8,000 people, operates nationwide and in some foreign markets.

The awardees from the Lakeland Area include: Elizabeth Ackerman, Dorothy Alexander, Joann Ayers, Carol Baldini, David Becker, James Benbennick, Kimberly Bitto, Dolores Blume, Mary Jane Bodnar, Jacqueline Breitfuss, Ellen Carlson, Rachel Catania, Cindy Clark, Kim Connor, Cynthia Craven, David Darby, Dudley Diehl, Mary Duffy, Philip Duszka, Theresa Eckert, Roger Ecklund, Kathleen Endler, Lisa Farquhar, Herman Felice, Susan Fiorentino, Muriel Graham, Thomas Gredell, Karyn Groberski, Renee Gustavson, Margaret Haennicke, Angela Hansen, Kathryn Hastings, Joseph Henderson, Richard Holm, Margaret Jackson, Yolanda Johnson, Alexander Johnston, Thomas Kaye, Shari Laffredi, Kevin Lang, Dennis Leslie, Sandra Light, Chui-Ling Lin, Marlene Luce, Rosemarie Marsh, Debra McCauley, Peter McEnery, Lawrence Napoletano, Mary Oliver, Bonniw Oziminski, Debra Pearson, Thomas Piers, William Papastefan, Maryann Payton, Bret Raedel, Fred Reuter, Michele Rohde, Douglas Richardson, Patricia Rithamel, Roger Sankey, Lynne Schlee, David Sheahan, Leslie Steed-Severinsen, Mark Stephenson, Sheila Sutton, Gloria Traudt, Roy Wagner, Roberta Ward, Dolores Weichmann, Dixie Willett, Charles Williams and Mary Zoss.

$5,000 donation

The Lake County Board of Realtors has donated $5,000 to the Public Action to Deliver Shelter (PADS) organization as a result of a year-long fundraising effort. PADS is a not-for-profit organization which assists the homeless of Lake County. Those attending the check presentation include: (from left) Peggy Kayser, executive vice president, and Eve B. Lee, first vice president of the Lake County Board of Realtors; Doris Erickson and Toby Jones of Connection (PADS center); and Melodie Samuels and Sandy King, co-chairmen of the public realtors committee of the Lake County Board of Realtors.

Lake County is Illinois' fifth largest manufacturing center

Lake County is the fifth largest manufacturing county in Illinois, with a total of 832 manufacturers listed in the Illinois Manufacturers Directory. Waukegan, the top manufacturing city in Lake County with 114 firms, is the 25th largest manufacturing community in Illinois. The city reported a 3.6 percent increase in the number of manufacturers over the past year.

Five of Lake County's top 10 industrial cities reported increases: Waukegan by four; Mundelein by eight; Wauconda by nine; Lake Bluff by five; and Antioch by two.

"The statewide increase of 137 manufacturers demonstrates positive growth for Illinois' industrial community," said the directory's publisher, Howard Dubin. The total number of manufacturers listed in the 1990 directory is 21,344, as compared to 21,207 listings in the 1989 edition.

The top industrial group in Illinois continues to be Machinery (Non-Electrical) with 4,124 plants throughout the state. The second group, with 3,485 plants, is Printing & Publishing. Metal Fabricating follows with a total of 2,899 plants and next is Food with 1,212 plants. Rounding out the top five industries is Machinery (Electrical) with 1,122 manufacturers.

Published annually, the 1,552-page Illinois Manufacturers Directory is divided into seven sections. All manufacturers are cross-referenced alphabetically, geographically, by product, by S.I.C. number and by computer brand. The sixth section is a county breakdown for the state of Illinois.

First Aid

The Lake County Family YMCA is offering First Aid For Little People on Wednesday, March 21, at 6:30 p.m. First Aid For Little People is a safety and first aid program for children ages five to seven. The information and skills presented are based upon a child's abilities to respond in an emergency situation and with that child's safety always in mind.

The program is informal which encourages the active participation of students through the discussion and sharing of experiences, under the guidance of a well prepared instructor.

Bank honors workers

Nancy L. Singer, president and chief executive officer of First of America Bank - Northeast Illinois, N.A. has announced the following bank promotions which were approved at the January Board of Directors meeting.

Robert H. Copeland Jr. has been named senior vice president and chief financial officer. Copeland has been with the bank since 1980 and has held successively responsible positions in the operations and Financial Control areas. He received his B.S. Degree in accounting and finance from St. Joseph's College and resides in Elk Grove Village.

Stanley C. Rosendahl has been promoted to commercial loan officer III still retaining the title of vice president. Previously employed by Farm Credit Bank of St. Louis and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Rosendahl has been with FOA - Northeast Illinois since 1987. He is a graduate of Illinois State University and resides in Mundelein.

Michelle L. Scott has been named loan operations manager. She joined Zion State Bank in 1979 as a proof operator and most recently was in charge of the loan operations and customer inquiry areas of First of America Bank-Zion, N.A. She attended the University of Wisconsin and resides in Kenosha, Wis.

Nancy J. DeMeester has been promoted to customer information officer. DeMeester joined the bank in 1986 and has worked in various progressively responsible capacities in the customer service areas. She resides in Waukegan.

Barbara J. Nelson has been appointed assistant loan operations manager. Hired by the Grayslake affiliate in 1984, she has held several responsible positions in the loan operations and indirect loan areas. Nelson resides in Grayslake.

Hotel Moraine promotes Mundelein's Restko manager

The new ownership of the Hotel Moraine, Highwood, has issued an exciting challenge to Michael P. Restko, 36, in promoting him to the newly created position of general manager. He had been director of sales and catering.

Diane and David Venard of Buffalo Grove, the new owners, who acquired the Moraine earlier this year, want the Moraine name and their hotel restored to the elegance it once had for the first half of this century among Chicago's North Shore society.

Prior to joining the Hotel Moraine in 1987, Restko has spent three years as director of catering for the Executive House in Chicago and before that held management positions with a catering company. He has a Bachelor of Science degree from Northern Illinois University, has studied at Roosevelt University and at industry seminars.

Area employment on the increase

Springtime in the Chicago area will be fairly bright for jobseekers, according to results of the 1990 Second Quarter Employment Outlook Survey just released by Manpower Inc., the world's largest temporary help firm.

Area employers polled on their hiring intentions for the April/May/June period report that 25 percent will add staff, 9 percent plan personnel cutbacks and 61 percent foresee no change. In addition, 5 percent are unsure.

Manpower spokesperson Warren Rosenow said, "Chicago area results compare very favorably to the encouraging responses of one year ago, when 23 percent expected staff increases and 10 percent predicted reductions. Three months ago, 22 percent planned to hire and 12 percent anticipated workforce decreases."

The national scene reflects a slight hiring slowdown among the more than 15,000 employers surveyed, as 26 percent plan workforce additions and 8 percent expect to decrease staff levels.

Regionally, 29 percent in the Midwest project increased hiring while 8 percent anticipate reduced personnel rolls.

Using drugs is not against the law

Editor's Note: The following article is the first of a three-part series entitled, "Is 'Just Say No' Working in 1990." This particular segment is concerned with killing the demand for drugs in Lake County.

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

On a worldwide level, President Bush and the officials of Central America seem to have agreed that killing the demand for drugs in the United States is the best way to fight this country's critical narcotic's problem.

In Lake County, Mike Sliozis, a Illinois State Police lieutenant in charge of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEGS) of Lake County, says "killing" the supplier will kill the demand.

There is a growing move towards making education against the evils of drug abuse a main thrust in today's drug war.

Within the last two years, special "Drug Task Forces" are popping up all over Lake and Kenosha Counties, the latest being a Lake Countywide drug task force to study how best to solve the area's drug problems.

In Kenosha County, the city and county have formed a law enforcement task force against drug pushers.

Although many area schools have been addressing the problem with increased vigor, from special programs like Operation Snowball in Warren and Gurnee to drug education committees in Lake Zurich, the Village of Antioch, along with its community organizations, has joined with its schools in the formation of a village-wide Special Drug Task Force to help solve the problem.

Antioch High School has hired a special drug counselor, Cathy Cratty, to lead this task force.

Many of these groups are involved in studying the problem and how best to tackle it: stronger law enforcement against the dealers and heavier punishments; greater effort in catching users and punishing them; education concerning the evils of drug use and how to turn peer pressure against that use.

Although, most people realize that statistics can be made to substantiate almost any claim, nationwide and local stats seem to show that the war against drugs is being lost by the guys in the white hats.

Federal drug agencies claim that $ billions worth of illegal drugs are being brought into the United States yearly, with just a fraction being confiscated at a cost of more $ billions.

Things are slightly improving in Lake County, with an increase of major drug

These two are 'late' for their drug education class arrests climbing to 106 in 1989, as compared to 70 in 1986.

The conviction rate is also on the upswing, from 38 percent in 1986 to 68 percent in 1989.

The Lake County Sheriff's Dept. conducted 97 special drug investigations last year with a 90 percent conviction rate.

Even though Sliozis feels "we're holding our own against drugs in Lake County," having confiscated $6 million in drugs in said that at least 75 percent had used some form of illegal narcotics within the last year. This of course could include the abuse of alcohol.

Yet the local police department arrested no one for drug use, very few for possession and fewer teens for drug pushing.

In the late 1970s, the man called the biggest marijuana pusher in the north central part of the country was convicted

It is against the law to sell drugs and to be in possession of drugs, but there is no law against using drugs. How can we kill the demand for drugs when no legal action is being taken against the drug user?

1989, national stats according to population show that these arrests and the drugs confiscated are "just a drop in the narcotic's bucket."

According to a survey conducted by the University of Michigan, 50 percent of the nation's high school seniors admitted to using an illegal drug last year.

A survey conducted by an area high school came up with these numbers.

With an enrollment of 800 students, 20 percent of the freshman, 30 percent of the sophomores, 33 percent of the juniors and 42 percent of the seniors used marijuana.

Five percent of the freshman, 9 percent of the sophomores, 4 percent of the juniors and 10 percent of the seniors used cocaine.

The survey said that marijuana and alcohol were readily available to the students at any time.

The average age that the first marijuana cigarette is smoked is 13 years old.

Three percent of the freshman have smoked crack, 5 percent of the sophomores; 3 percent of the juniors and 5 percent of the seniors.

Over 66 percent of the drugs were used at parties and at night and 62 percent said they also used drugs at home.

This means that in this one small school, in 1989, almost 250 students used marijuana last year.

In this one school, out of 800 students, 70 are currently using cocaine.

Yet no one was arrested for using drugs in the entire county that the school is located in, because it is not illegal to have drugs in one's system.

In another more metropolitan school, as far back at 1983, when the drug problem was not considered to be as heavy as it is in 1990, with an enrollment of almost 2,000 students, the students themselves and sent to a federal prison, yet he was never arrested for a drug infraction in Lake County, where he operated for years.

Sliozis feels that the main thrust of the drug fight should be aimed at catching, convicting and putting major drug dealers away.

"For every major drug dealer we put in prison, we are stopping up to 100 street pushers and many more users from having access to drugs for almost a month," the MEGS head said.

He adds that going after the big drug dealer is also more cost efficient.

Sliozis is upset because more and more funding is going towards the rehabilitation and less for law enforcement.

"It costs a lot more money for 60 days of rehabilitation when the greater percentage of users are back taking drugs within 90 days, than it does to put one big dealer away," says Sliozis.

Considering the rising numbers of teens in the emergency wards of area hospitals for drug abuse, Sliozis questions stats that say drug use among teens is on the wane.

Another important trend is toward drug abuse by the middle and upper classes. And guess what had reappeared on the dope scene, LSD, the scourge of the hippy generation.

According to Parents' Resource Inst., 65 percent of white high school seniors used alcohol last year, while only 36 percent of the black students did the same.

Over 20 percent of white students used marijuana last year, while 17 percent of black students smoked this weed.

Seven percent of white high school seniors used cocaine, while only 4 percent of the black students did the same.

Reports have the use of cocaine among mature adults on the upswing, but to date, according to Ill. Lt. Gov. George Ryan, "Drugs are the biggest killer of young people in the United States between the ages of 16 and 24."

Is 'Just Say No' working in 1990?

If education is the answer, it could only be the answer for a percentage of kids that will be adults in 10 to 15 years.

Most of those that are dying from drug abuse are past that education which we are almost 20 years late in implementing.

Drugs have been a serious problem in the United States for more than 30 years and the "Just Say No" advocacy just surfaced in the early 1980s.

There will also be a large percentage of the children that are lucky enough to be educated early against drug use, that will still use drugs.

For example, children have been aware for more than 30 years that cigarette smoking can kill. Some of these kids came home from school and broken their parents cigarettes in half.

Many of these children, now adults, smoke themselves. Most smokers today are 35 years old and younger. With all the publicity against smoking, every gas station, mini-mart, drugstore, etc. still stock cigarettes, so they must be selling in sufficient quantities.

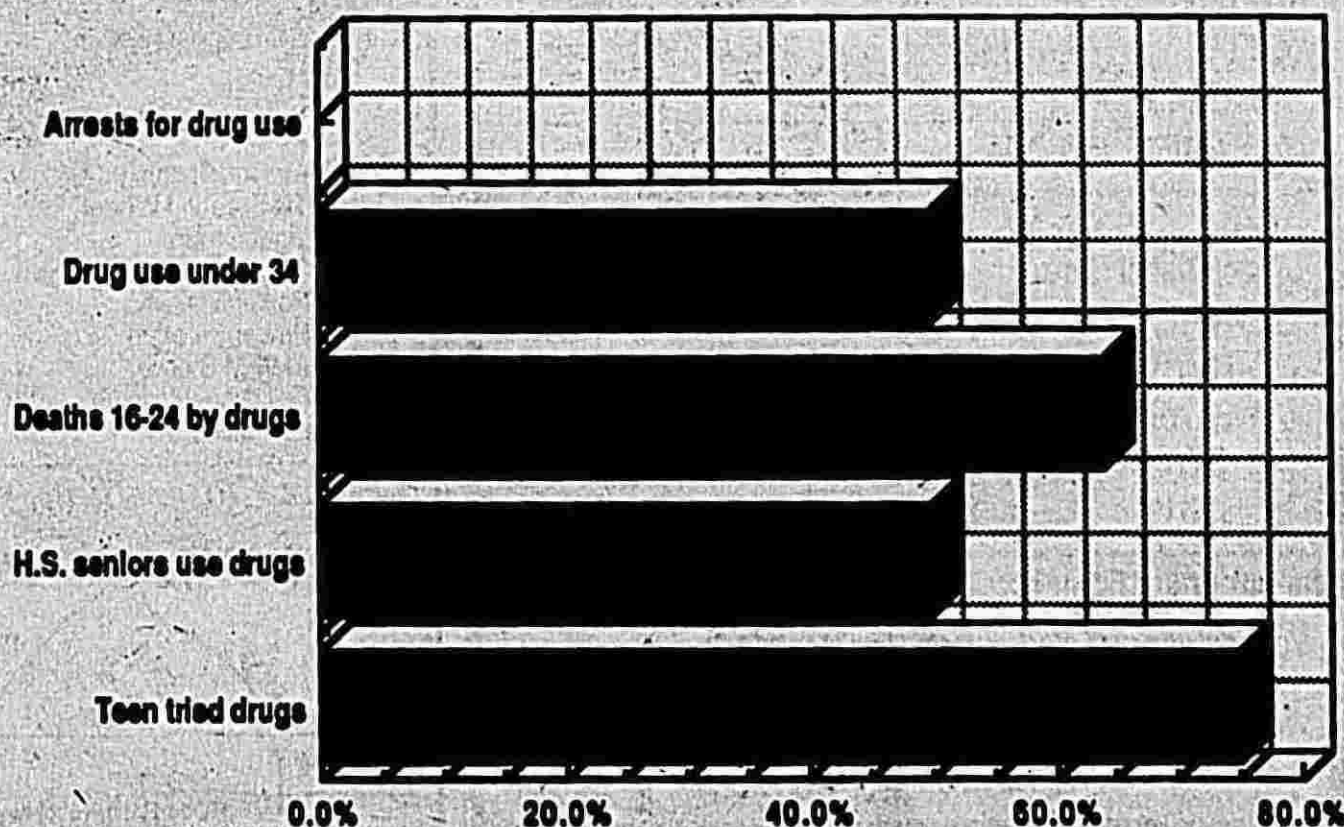

The country's complacency about drug use from 1960 to 1980, has cost the loss of a large number of that generation's young people. Over 50 percent of young adults under 34 admit to using illegal drugs. The older people get, the less likely they are to have used drugs.

Sliozis also says that Lake County's laws against drug dealing and possession are pretty good.

Yet we do not have laws against using drugs. One can be arrested for having drugs in their pocket, but not for having it in their bloodstream.

Law enforcement agencies bemoan the thought of arresting all the drug users with our prisons already overcrowded and only a fraction of drug dealers are in them.

We will be delving into cocaine babies, preventive measures and drugs and sports in future parts of this series.

Preserve shrinks

WAUKEGAN---The Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners took two actions concerning the planned Almond Rd. Forest Preserve at its last meeting. The commissioners deleted a 4.5 acre site belonging to the Hope Presbyterian Church because the property is located north of a proposed four-lane highway bordering the Forest Preserve site.

Tax backers hopeful

GURNEE---Warren-Newport Public Library officials are confident of their chances of passing a tax increase which is on the March 20 primary election ballot. "The phone calls are 70 percent in favor," Warren-Newport Public Library Dir. Barbara Chernik said. This week the library mailed its second special edition newsletter explaining its need for a tax increase. The newsletter was sent to 17,660 homes, an increase of 3,205 over the 14,455 newsletters sent in November of 1989.

Fox and hen house

MUNDELEIN---Trustee Ralph Rohling has criticized village officials for foot dragging and coddling developers. Giving them copies of a revised wetlands ordinance and a new tree preservation ordinance is like the "fox guarding the hen house," he said. Rohling said the developers will delay action as long as possible in their own interests.

Scraps offer

PRAIRIE VIEW---Despite apparent threats to sway residents to oppose the March 20 referendum, Vernon Area Public Library officials are confident voters will approve the vote. Vernon library trustees rejected an offer last week by the Village of Buffalo Grove to buy up to six acres at the corner of Rte. 22 and Buffalo Grove Rd. The price is $50,000 an acre, less than half of the prime real estate value, said Buffalo Grove Village Manager William Balling. He said trustees were "perplexed and disappointed" the library board refused the offer. Administrative Librarian Allen Meyer said the offer was no improvement over the current plan to acquire six acres adjacent to the existing library site at North Indian Creek Rd. A new library building is needed to ease overcrowded conditions. A two-question referendum asks voters to approve a $6.9 million bond issue and to increase the operating tax rate from .15 to .19 per $100 assessed valuation.

Buys harvester

THIRD LAKE---The Village of Third Lake will begin a weed harvesting program this summer. The board, acting on the advice of Atty. Charles Smith, voted to waive the advertising for bids for the weed harvester. Later, the trustees voted to purchase a used weed harvester from Integrated Lakes Management for $37,500. Trustee Charles David, head of the lakes management committee, said the village will not be sharing the harvester the first year.

Lions donate

ANTIOCH---Mayor Robert Wilton of Antioch accepted a check for $20,000 from the Antioch Lions Club to be used to help fund the new bathhouse at the Antioch Aqua Center in Williams Park. The Lions Club also built the pavilion in Williams Park, next to the aqua center.

Dluhos resigns

GURNEE---Gurnee Police Chief of Larry Dluhos has resigned. Dluhos's resignation was announced at a Monday night Gurnee Village Board meeting. "He did an excellent job for the village," Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton said. Health reasons were cited as the main factor behind Dluhos's resignation. Late last year, he was hospitalized for stomach pains. Deputy Chief Hank Schwarz was named interim chief.

Confidence vote

WAUCONDA---The locomotive that appeared to bearing down on Wauconda Police Chief B. Goodyear was sidetracked Tuesday night when the Village Board and Mayor James Keagle gave Goodyear a vote of confidence. Goodyear had been accused of wrongdoing in a 1988 suicided case in which the victim had a tank of nitrous oxide returned to him after police officers confiscated it from his home. Police confiscated the tank after the victim's wife called police asking for help.

Residents protest

ROUND LAKE PARK---Over 265 Round Lake Park residents united at a public meeting earlier this week as they voiced their opposition to a proposed 32-unit apartment building/mini-mart complex on Hainesville Rd., adjacent to the Roller Rink. VJJ Partnership, the developer of the proposed Planned Unit Development (PUD), will have to eliminate 94 of the 118 oak trees on the 3.58-acre parcel if the proposal is approved by the village board. A continuation of the meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 2 at W.J. Murphy Elementary School.

Committee changes

WAUKEGAN---Reaction was varied to Lake County Forest Preserve Board President C. Richard Anderson's wishes to change the makeup of some committees and the name of the Land Acquisition Committee. "Anderson made a cardinal sin of politics," F.T. "Mike" Graham, chairman of the Land Acquisition Committee, said. Anderson added members to the land acquisition committee and renamed it the Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee.

Charter wins OK

GURNEE---The Gurnee Village Board approved zoning changes clearing the way for construction of Charter Hospital Lake County on a 10-acre site in the Grand Tri-State Industrial Park, located between Rte. 132 and Washington St. west of I-94. The Gurnee Plan Commission gave the proposed facility a favorable recommendation in February.

Probe GOP ejection

LIBERTYVILLE---Ejection of a Vernon Hills precinct committeeman from the Republican Party headquarters is being billed as an attempt to sabotage a Saturday morning training session for March primary workers by those in charge. The Lake County Board Law and Legislative Committee has asked the Sheriff's Dept. to investigate the ejection from the meeting of Eric Vanselow by an off-duty deputy sheriff at the meeting.

Film Review

This reviewer is a Kevin Costner fan so his new flick "Revenge" was welcomed with open arms and fan prejudice.

Costner, who isn't as nice a guy as he usually plays, is probably sexier and more macho than ever, but this overdone yarn about a three-way triangle between husband, wife and friend, introduces the audience to a new Costner that this reviewer feels will not be as popular as the old "Mr. Nice Guy."

Anthony Quinn's menacing ways as the cuckold husband probably steal the picture as he implements the flick's title in making Costner and the unfaithful wife, Madeleine Stowe, suffer in every way imaginable.

We have physical beatings, shooting her full of drugs and remanding her to a house of ill repute.

As for our questionable hero, he is abandoned in a desert after being thrashed within an inch of his life.

Will Costner save himself and Stowe and will they walk into the Mexican sunset together? Wait until the video is released to find out. This 2.5 star film is worth that price. But for dyed-in-the-wool Costner fans, it rates at least three stars, and we know you're not waiting for the video.

The photography in "Revenge" is unusual, but this reviewer still hasn't decided whether it added to or subtracted from the film's value.

Be there

At 2 p.m., on Sunday, March 18, the David Adler Cultural Center, Libertyville, will offer performances by costumed dancers rendering the singing and drumming of our native American ritual dances.

Every street could lead to Country Roads, a country western band slated to be at the Sundance Saloon, outside of Mundelein this weekend.

"Works on Paper," featuring a variety of work done by seven Lake County artists on paper, using pencils, acrylic and mixed media, is running until April 14, at the College of Lake County Gallery of Art.

This weekend, "The Little Foxes," by Lillian Hellman, will be at CLC's Lake County Theatre.

On March 14, Arlo Guthrie, singer/songwriter, will appear in a solo concert at 8 p.m., at the Woodstock Opera House's 10th Annual Benefit for Special Olympics.

The College of Lake County Jazz and Wind Ensembles are slated to perform with Tonight Show saxophonist, Pete Christlieb and Chicago Symphony's hornist Gail Williams at their Sunday, March 18 concert, at 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium on the Grayslake Campus.

How's this for a title? "Bathtub Ginger and the Bootleg Bears"? It is a teddy bear show running on March 31 and April 1, from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, and from noon to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, at the Schaumburg Marriott Hotel.

The State Fair Park in Milwaukee will be hosting one of the largest spring arts and crafts shows in the area on March 10 and 11.

'Snow White' captivating

by TOM WITOM

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the classic Brothers Grimm fairy tale, as presented for young audiences at Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre, is a captivating production starring Susan Deming and Liz Pazik.

The familiar story evolves around a mean-spirited queen who can't bear the thought of anyone in her kingdom outclassing her in beauty and charm. It features a frank-spoken magical mirror that contrives to plot the end of the fair

Snow White by means of a poisoned apple.

Seven charming dwarfs--in this musical version by Elsa Rael and Michael Valenti they're named Pepito, Mosquito, Scrubber, Flubber, Scotty, Blubber and Fred--befriend the young girl and work their way into her heart.

In their brightly colored, puffed-out costumes, they make quite a comical sight. The queen comes across as a menacing figure, with her black gown, hair that suddenly turns gray and her cackling laughter.

All's well that ends well, of course, and when David Lewman happens by as the Prince, all it takes is one kiss to bring Snow White out of her sleep-like trance.

Fred Klaisner's tight direction and Kevin Stites' finely balanced musical direction are much in evidence. "Snow White" which plays Saturdays and certain weekday mornings and afternoons, closes April 7.

Set Horse Fair '90 to run April 28, 29

"Horse Fair '90," the industry trade show and horse fair produced by the Horseman's Council of Illinois (HCI) and the Cooperative Extension Service, has changed dates to April 28 and 29 at the state fairgrounds in Springfield.

Fair visitors can attend 12 educational presentations and demonstrations by expert speakers, in addition to numerous commercial displays.

Although last year's event enjoyed a 25 percent increase in attendance despite record low temperatures and occasional snow flurries on the early April dates, the new dates are hoped to bring warmer weather. They also will avoid the past conflicts with the Indiana and Iowa horse fairs, permitting more commercial exhibitors to display at the Illinois fair.

"We want every horse breed and equine discipline in Illinois at the fair," says Joy Meierhans, HCI board member and horse event specialist who manages the fair.

"If your favorite breed or way of using horses wasn't represented in 1989, contact your local club about participating in 'Horse Fair '90.' We were very pleased to have 21 demonstrating groups at the last fair, but there are more. Some of the 'missing' are Belgian, Buckskin, National Show Horse, Palomino, Peruvian, Welsh and Donkeys and Mules. We'd also like to have demonstrations of cutting, polo and vaulting."

The promotional package designed for clubs and associations includes four stalls for demonstration horses and daily demonstration time in the arena. An optional display booth also is available at a special reduced rate for HCI member organizations.

Breeders are invited to promote stallions in Stallion Row and the daily Parade of Stallions. Owners with horses to sell can buy stall space in the special sale aisle and get their horses included in the presentation of sale horses, a successful new concept in equine sales promotion.

Shopping at the fair has become a big attraction for Midwestern horsemen. Last

'90," and special admission rates are available for 4-H, Pony Club and groups of 10 or more.

For more information on the costs of participating or attending "Horse Fair '90" and rates for commercial booths, stallion packages and sale stalls, contact Joy Meierhans, 43W734 Old Midlothian Turnpike, Elburn, IL. 60119; phone (708)557-2575.

Marriott welcomes Snow White

The Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre for Young Audiences' production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be playing through April 7. Liz Pazik plays a menacing queen and Susan Deming, a charming Snow White as they deal with the talking mirror.

spring, more than 60 retail booths offered everything from a new girth tightener to one-of-a-kind gold jewelry. Horsemen also could buy all the basics for horsekeeping, from buildings to brushes, and browse through a huge selection of goods at complete tack shops set up by Pard's and Sergeants. Parents and students could check out equine science programs at three different schools.

Fair visitors can also attend the educational presentations and demonstrations which were the highest rated events, based on the 1989 Horse Fair Survey.

Lakeland guests to visit famed Grand Ole Opry

On Saturday, May 26, at the Opry in Nashville, Tenn., the house lights will go down and Roy Acuff, the "King of Country Music," will take the state for another rendition of "Wabash Cannonball," just as he has for over 50 years.

In the audience will be a group from Lake County, members of the Lakeland Newspapers Nashville Tour. They'll join 4,400 other Opry fans from all over the world at what's sometimes called the mother church of country music. They'll be guaranteed good seats—even though the show is often sold out.

The Grand Ole Opry

began in 1925 as a Nashville radio program that featured amateur and semi-professional musicians. Today the program is broadcast to millions of listeners in the U.S. and Canada, and portions are cablecast over the Nashville Network (TNN).

The show moved several times, from a tiny studio to various theaters and the famous Ryman Auditorium in downtown Nashville.

But the crowds kept growing and in 1974, with President Nixon joining Roy Acuff on stage on opening night, the Grand Old Opry House at Opryland became the Opry's latest home.

The venerable Opry House state has become a steppingstone to stardom for performers like Hank Williams, Johnny Cash and Loretta Lynn. But the management never knows more than 48 hours in advance what performers will appear. There are no rehearsals and the show is continually interrupted by commercials.

Those qualities of informality and realism are parts of the reason for the show's enduring success. The other reasons are the songs that express the heartbeat of American folk music, and the artists who write, play and sing them.

On any night at the Opry, including Lakeland Newspapers night, May 26; you may hear the likes of Dolly Parton, Barbara Mandrell, Tom T. Hall, Ricky Scaggs, Reba McEntire, or Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers Band. It's a great American institution.

Artist sets Vernon date

At the invitation of the Lincolnshire Art League, the eminent watercolorist, Irving Shapiro, A.W.S., will appear and demonstrate painting techniques at the Vernon Twp. Center, 2900 N. Main St., Prairie View at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, March 13. Open to the public, admission is $5 per person.

Member of the American Watercolor Society and past president and director of the American Academy of Art, Shapiro also is a teacher of watercolor painting and the author of a book on the subject.

His works have been acquired by many prestigious museums and corporate collections, exhibited at many others and won dozens of awards and medals.

A Shapiro watercolor was presented by the city of Chicago as its official gift to the president of China upon his visit to the city. Another Shapiro painting with a Chicago theme was commissioned by the United States Navy. It was presented to the USS Chicago when that ship was commissioned and now hangs in the quarters of its commanding officer. For reservations or more information, phone 295-9695.

To Cook*
By Randee Rlan

A fondue party is a great way to entertain informally. The preparation is done in advance so that you can relax with your guests, dipping tasty morsels.

Beef Fondue or whose pedigreed name is Fondue Bourguignonne, is an excellent choice for these cold winter evenings. Dipping sauces are essential to complete the simple, yet elegant dinner. A lettuce salad, crusty bread and some wine will round off an evening guaranteed to spark quick wit and gay repartee (provided, of course, that your guests are potentially quick-witted and reparteeing types).

An appropriate and unbeatable good dessert is a large basket of seasonal fresh fruit. Really nice get-together!

Select tenderloin or sirloin of beef (if less tender cuts of meat are used, sprinkle with unseasoned tenderizer).

Remove all fat and tendons. Cut into 1-inch cubes and mound the meat on serving platter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and set out so meat will be at room temperature.

Measure the oil (peanut oil is best) into fondue pot about 2 inches deep. Heat the oil on the range until it is hot enough to brown a cube of bread. Transfer carefully to the fondue stand on the center of the table. Light the alcohol burner or canned cooking heat.

Spear cubes of meat with fondue fork; place in hot oil and cook until meat is to your liking. Transfer to dinner fork and dip the cooked beef into any of the fondue dipping sauces.

If the oil in the fondue pot is not cooking briskly, carefully return it to the range to get oil heated up to temperature.

To serve, choose 4 to 5 dipping sauces.

Bearnaise Sauce

4 egg yolks
1 Tbl. tarragon vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup melted butter
1 Tbl. chopped green onion
1 Tbl. chopped fresh parsley
dash cayenne pepper

Place egg yolks, vinegar and salt in blender. Turn on high speed; add a little melted butter and allow it to blend. Add the remaining butter very slowly in a stream; blend until thick and well combined. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Sour-cream horseradish sauce

1 cup sour cream
2 Tbl. horseradish
1 Tbl. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients and mix well.

Sweet-sour sauce

1/4 cup vinegar
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 Tbl. cornstarch
1 tsp. water

Heat together the vinegar, juice, brown sugar and salt. Combine in a small bowl the cornstarch and water. Add to the hot mixture and cook until thick and clear. Add a few tablespoons of chopped pineapple, if desired.

Garlic butter

1/2 cup butter
1 Tbl. chopped fresh parsley
2 garlic cloves, crushed

Whip butter until fluffy. Stir in parsley and garlic. Refrigerate. Let come to room temperature before serving.

Hot 'n spicy sauce

1 cup chili sauce
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 Tbl. lemon juice
2 Tbl. oil
1 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. vinegar
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. salt

Combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Heat to boiling; simmer 5 minutes. Serve warm or cool.

Sauce Remoulade

1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup finely chopped green onion
1 hard-cooked egg, finely chopped
2 tsp. prepared mustard
2 tsp. parsley, chopped

Combine all ingredients; refrigerate.

Blue Cheese sauce

1/2 cup sour cream
1/4 cup blue cheese, crumbled
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/4 salt

Combine and mix well; refrigerate.

Cool curry sauce

2 tsp. curry paste
1 tsp. Dijon mustard
6 Tbl. mayonnaise
6 Tbl. plain low-fat yogurt

Beat all ingredients together in a small bowl. Refrigerate for flavors to meld. Transfer to serving dish.

Getting married in Las Vegas

by JIM WARNKEN
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Some people still think of a Las Vegas wedding as appropriate only for a sailor and his best girl, just before his ship sails.

Well tell that to Bruce Willis and Demi Moore, Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, Elvis and Priscilla, Frank and Mia, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, Bridgitte Bardot and Roger Vadim, Mickey Rooney and several ex-wives. They, and many others to whom money was no object, found Las Vegas' wedding chapels more than satisfactory to tie the knot in.

Las Vegas does have its appeal for a fast, cheap wedding. There is no waiting period, no blood test and, in the city that never sleeps, the court house is open until midnight Monday through Thursday. On weekends they're open 24 hours a day! $25 for the license, and another $25 for the ceremony fee, and you're married.

However, it is Las Vegas' many wedding chapels, offering to provide everything but the bride and groom, that are the real appeal of a Las Vegas wedding.

These chapels offer wedding packages that include anything from bouquets and boutonnieres, photos and video recordings, limo pick-up, music, tuxedos and gowns, and even the wedding ring! Honey-moon suites right up to a $900 a day penthouse suite at Caesar's can be included. Short on cash? Most accept Visa or Mastercard!

While there are many beautiful chapels, a couple of my favorites are the Candlelight, next to the Riviera, and the Chapel of the Fountains, which is located, of all places, in the Circus Circus Hotel.

A complete wedding package, right down to fee for the minister, can be arranged by (guess who) your local travel agent.

Although Dante's has a European look and the menu is filled with ethnic dishes, good old American fare is also available, from steak to seafood specialties.

Dantes' menu has something for everyone that's hungry

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

The warm family atmosphere at Dantes Restaurant on Rte. 173, outside of Antioch, is one of its major draws.

The restaurant's cozy decor has been a Mediterranean one since it was the Dortmunder Inn a few years ago. Now the ethnic aura has just crossed a few borders to Italy.

Dante's owner and chief chef, Mauvica Orsolini, a member of the locally famous restaurant family, uses culinary talents learned in her family's native country to bring authenticity to the many Italian dishes on the menu.

Dante's is a small, friendly restaurant with an equally small, but select, menu that gives the diners a feeling of eating at a friend's or relative's home.

The Italian fare is out of the ordinary with a spaghetti sauce inspired in La Specia, a combination of lobster, mussels and shrimp sauteed in a wine sauce and served over steaming pasta.

But ethnic food also gives way to good old American steak and seafood plus family-style pig roasts and fish boils on specified days.

Even 'heart smart' healthy meals can be found on the variety-filled bill of fare.

There are also senior citizen discounts and luncheon specials to make sure that Dante's has something for everybody that's hungry.

Di Marco's Restaurant, located at 883 Main St., in Antioch, is now open. The restaurant will be featuring a superb assortment of Italian foods including appetizers, sandwiches and pizza. Cappacino and Espresso coffee, a fine assortment of wines and beer can also be enjoyed. Please ask about PM&L Dinner Theatre package. Call (708) 395-8883 for further opening information. "RICH IS BETTER"
a comedy by Jack Sharkey

This clever comedy is about a middle-aged corporate president who has only been married a year, but who lives in very modest surroundings with a wife who thinks he is a fork-lift operator at the factory he actually owns. Why she believes this and how the secret becomes unraveled contribute to the hilarious happenings in this show that originally starred Kaye Ballard.

Realtors, homebuilders spread political money

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Some realtors, especially those who belong to the Lake County Board of Realtors, are hopping mad. They say their money is being used in to support candidates they neither like or will vote for in the Tuesday, March 20 primary.

There are hundreds of members of the countywide organization with offices at 19625 W. Grand Ave., Lake Villa. Each pays at least $35 monthly in dues. Of this amount, a reported $15 goes to the Realtors Political Action Committee (RPAC), which supports specific candidates or issues in local or county elections. The other $20 goes to (Issues Mobilization Political Action Committee) IMPAC, which concentrates on lobbying, education and legislative matters, mostly in Springfield.

Of the $36,000 earmarked for this spring's election by the realtors organization, $15,000 is going to six Republican County Board candidates in the primary. All six are regarded as endorsed, either by the Republican precinct committeemen in the district or the Republican Central Committee.

Receiving $2,500 each to help them in the primary are:

Dist. 4: Incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake and Charles Johnston of Round Lake Beach.

Dist. 5: Supv. Robert Depke of Warren Twp. and Pam Newton of Vernon Hills.

Dist. 6: Supv. Robert Grever of Ela Twp. and Colin McRae of Mundelein.

Another $11,000 is being set aside for legislative lobbying on the state level.

According to records of a Jan. 18 meeting of the realtors, the Zion-based Homebuilders Assn. of Lake County is also putting $10,000 into the spring primary.

That $10,000 has been sent to Jack Martin of the Libertyville Riding Shop, an officer of the Libertyville-based Taxpayers for Good Government. That group is partially financing what is labeled as the new Lake County Republican Headquarters in Libertyville. Located on Milwaukee Ave. in a former automobile dealership, it is only for endorsed candidates of the Republican Central Committee.

The headquarters is also financed by contributions to the Citizens for Neal fund controlled by Robert Neal, a County Board member and chairman of the Lake County Republican Party.

Another $1,000 is being contributed by the homebuilders to 12 endorsed Republican candidates on the March ballot; six for countywide office, six for the County Board.

Some realtors do not agree with the choices their money is supporting. They are objecting. But not openly. They are afraid of their jobs, repercussions from other members or associates.

Some are even being asked to make telephone calls and plan literature distribution for candidates they do not support. They do it in fear of losing their jobs.

CHURCH TALK

McHenry

Chain O'Lakes Evangelical Covenant Church will have an adult seminar on addiction and cults among youths on Sunday, March 11 at 6:30 p.m. with a substance abuse counselor. Babysitting will be provided. Dessert and coffee will follow. Join this group at 4815 N. Wilmot Rd., McHenry. Call (708) 497-3000 or (708) 497-3050.

Indian Hill

Rev. Darwin Merrill, an evangelist, from Arvada, Colo., will be at Indian Hill Chapel, 36060 Fairfield Rd. Ingleside, during the week of March 11 to 16. Sunday services will be, Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m., and evening service at 6 p.m. The services during the week will be at 7:30 p.m. each day except Wednesday. Merrill is much in demand for evangelistic and revival campaigns, youth camps and missionary conferences. He speaks with great vision having had the privilege of many campaigns throughout the world. He sometimes supplements his strong preaching ministry with missionary slides of his worldwide ministry and amazing magic which he used to illustrate spiritual truths. For further information call (708) 546-8142.

Ingleside

Tell the World, a contemporary choir, will present a musical program at 6 p.m. on Sunday, March 4 at the Fox Lake Baptist Church located at 27430 W. Nippersink, Ingleside. Rev. Jim Hanna, pastor, stated that the group consists of approximately 30 young people from high school freshmen through the 20's. They perform contemporary and traditional Christian music using professionally prepared accompaniment tapes. The concert is open to the public. There is no admission charge. A free-will offering will be taken. For further information call (708) 587-7722.

Lake Zurich

As part of the Lenten worship at Peace Lutheran Church, five lay persons will share their personal message of God's healing in their life and tell how it has bound them for life to His purposes. These special Lenten services taken place from Ash Wednesday through April 15. During Holy Week, a Tenebrae service will be held on Maundy Thursday, April 12. All services will be held at Sara Adams School, 555 Old Mill Grove Rd., Lake Zurich, and are scheduled for 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. For further information, call Pastor Vern Greenquist at (708) 540-8564.

Rebound battle

Carmel's Sean Ryan (44) pulls down a rebound against Warren's Dave Huffhines in regional title action at Libertyville. Tourney magic continues as Warren tops Carmel

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

By distance, the two groups were maybe 50, 60 feet apart.

But when it comes to two rivals battling again for a regional championship, such emotions cannot be measured in feet.

There was the Carmel High School basketball coaching staff, walking out of the Libertyville High School gym Friday night, knowing its season was over.

At the other end, waiting for players to come out of the locker room in groups of twos or threes, were the Warren High cheerleaders and managers. The Warren group was joking and hugging. The Carmel contingent was wondering about what it has to do to get back to the sectional level.

"It's sweet," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said of the 75-68 Warren win. The win was his 251st in his career, which dates back to the 1976-77 season.

Warren, 15-11 and headed to the Waukegan East sectional, had won its third straight regional title in a row over the snakebitten Corsairs.

Warren had plenty of heroes for its fans to celebrate.

-There was Byron Reynolds, who replaced Ian Whittington in the post after he fouled out with 1:48 left and the game still in doubt.

-There was Dave Huffhines, who scored 20 points and ignited the Blue Devils with outside shooting.

-There was Craig Shelton, who broke Joel Elfering's school record for assists.

"We were running on our heels when Byron made the plays. He came in and did a fine job," Bader said.

"Coach Bader gave us a real strong lecture. He said, 'seniors do not let their seasons end this way,'" Reynolds said.

Carmel had made up a 14-point deficit and had the momentum when Whittington fouled out and David Montgomery made the two free throws for a tie.

But Reynolds then scored on a layup against a bigger Eric Maloney and later stole the ball that led to a layup by Mark Sasser.

Shelton then hit two free throws to complete a six-point Warren run that was the difference in the game.

"I can't fault the effort but it's just the feeling that someone has hit you with a sledgehammer in the stomach," Carmel Coach Scott Rosberg said.

The Corsairs received a key performance from someone not even on the roster in the CHS program. Jermaine Williams, a freshman guard, earned praise from Rosberg for his 19 point effort. Ryan, a favorite among the large Carmel gathering at Libertyville, scored 25 points.

Carmel enjoyed a 39-30 rebounding margin, but Shelton and Huffhines pulled down key defensive rebounds in the final minutes.

The game was a two for the price of one situation, as Warren dominated the first and third quarters while Carmel took charge in the second and fourth quarters.

Warren, paced by guard Craig Shelton, started the game with a hot seven-for-nine from the field and led 10-2 after Shelton had a steal and a layup. The lead reached 15-6 on a three-pointer by Dave Huffhines, who led Warren's efforts with 20 points.

Carmel got back into the contest, though, in the end of the first quarter and through the second.

"They took away the three-point shot, so we had to penetrate more," Warren's Dave Spiller, who scored 16 points, said.

Four free throws, two by Huffhines and two by Whittington, gave Warren an eight-point lead. It grew to 12 by the end of the third quarter on a Reynolds hoop.

Antioch Regional victory brings hoop satisfaction

Isn't it funny how one victory can turn a somewhat disappointing season into a satisfying one. That was the case when the Antioch Sequoits defeated the Round Lake Panthers 57-49 in the Antioch Regional final.

Antioch's boys were scheduled to play Wednesday against the home team in the Palatine-Fremd Sectional. If the Sequoits can pull off another upset, they will face the winner of the Conant/Dundee-Crown contest in the sectional final Friday night.

The Sequoits entered the Round Lake game with a 10-17 overall record, and finished in a tie for seventh place in the North Suburban Conference with a 7-11

NSC mark. Meanwhile, Round Lake had a great season under mentor Bob Ward, compiling a 21-6 overall record entering the regional final.

Antioch was sparked by the scoring of Keith Walker and the rebounding of Matt Pelland against the Panthers, and used two big runs in the third quarter to salt the game away.

Walker finished with 16 points, while Pelland had a total of eight points and 10 rebounds in the fourth quarter alone. Carl Galdine also scored in double figures with 11. Coach Jeff Dresser credited Mike Warren with playing "tremendous defense" on Round Lake's Scott Hall, only allowing him five points.

The Sequoits outrebounded Round Lake 38-27 during the contest. "Going into the game, I knew that we had to beat them on the boards," said Dresser. "That was the key to the game."

Antioch, which has won five of its last six games, trailed by two at the half. The Sequoits then busted it open with a 10-2 run at the beginning of the third quarter, and later had an 8-0 run in the third period to go up by as many as 12 points. The Panthers never recovered as the closest they got from there was five points.

Dresser said his team's pressing defense created a lot of Round Lake turnovers which helped Antioch blow it open in the third quarter.

The Sequoits lost several very close games during the 1989-90 season, and the coach feels his team is much better than its record shows. "If we could have won four or five of those close games, we'd have an above-.500 record right now. That's why I like our chances in the tournament. We're starting to gel real nicely."

Fremd, with a record of 13-14, is "very beatable," according to Dresser. The coach said if he had his choice, he's like to face Dundee-Crown (15-13) in the sectional final, only because Conant has a better record.

Senior Spiller ignites hot-shooting Blue Devils

The chant may have been a little on the loud side, perhaps a little on the overconfident.

"History, it's over, history, it's over," the Warren fans shouted.

The Blue Devils had just taken care of a gutty Mundelein squad 67-53 in one of the best games of offense for the Gurnee squad this year.

"We really ran our offense well. We had good patience and poise on the offensive end," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said.

The Mustangs, which ended the season at 11-15, had a disappointing end to a season which at one point saw MHS with a 9-6 record.

Coach Dennis Kessel cited several factors for the defeat, including missed free throws in the first half.

Warren was whistled for 15 fouls in the first 16 minutes, but Mundelein still found itself behind by 14 points at halftime.

"I think maybe their kids wanted it more. The free throws could have kept us in the game. There was also too much Spiller (Dave). We had no one to match up with him," Kessel said.

Spiller, a sharp-shooting redhead, scored 19 points and three of his five field goals were three pointers.

"Spiller was able to get the ball in key situations a number of times. The other guys were able to get the ball to him," Bader said.

Steve Karolewicz had 12 points.

Bader, who won his 250th career victory at Warren, credited the play of the reserves in the second quarter when fouls hampered the Warren starters.

CLC basketball seasons end in sectional contests

College of Lake County's basketball teams both finished with .500 league records, and the highlight of the season play was a win by the women's team.

The Lancers rallied from a 10-point deficit to edge DuPage 58-56 in the first round of sectional play. CLC trailed 33-21 at halftime.

Teri Huntington led the Lancers with 28 points, while Jenny Marker turned in what Coach Don Zeman called her best game with 20 points.

Kari Konopka led DuPage with 20 points.

DuPage had defeated the Lancers in the regular season.

CLC could not pull out a rally against McHenry in the second tourney game at Crystal Lake as the Lancers fell to the Scots for the third time this season.

McHenry led 44-22 at intermission and while the Lancers dominated the second half 41-29, the Scots were able to keep up the lead.

Huntington, a Warren graduate, led the Lancers with 22 points and Crystal Payne had 14 and Marker 12. McHenry had a 17-10 advantage in free throws as CLC finished 9-16.

The men's team also finished under .500 at 13-18. The Lancers fell to a high powered Kishwaukee team 117-86.

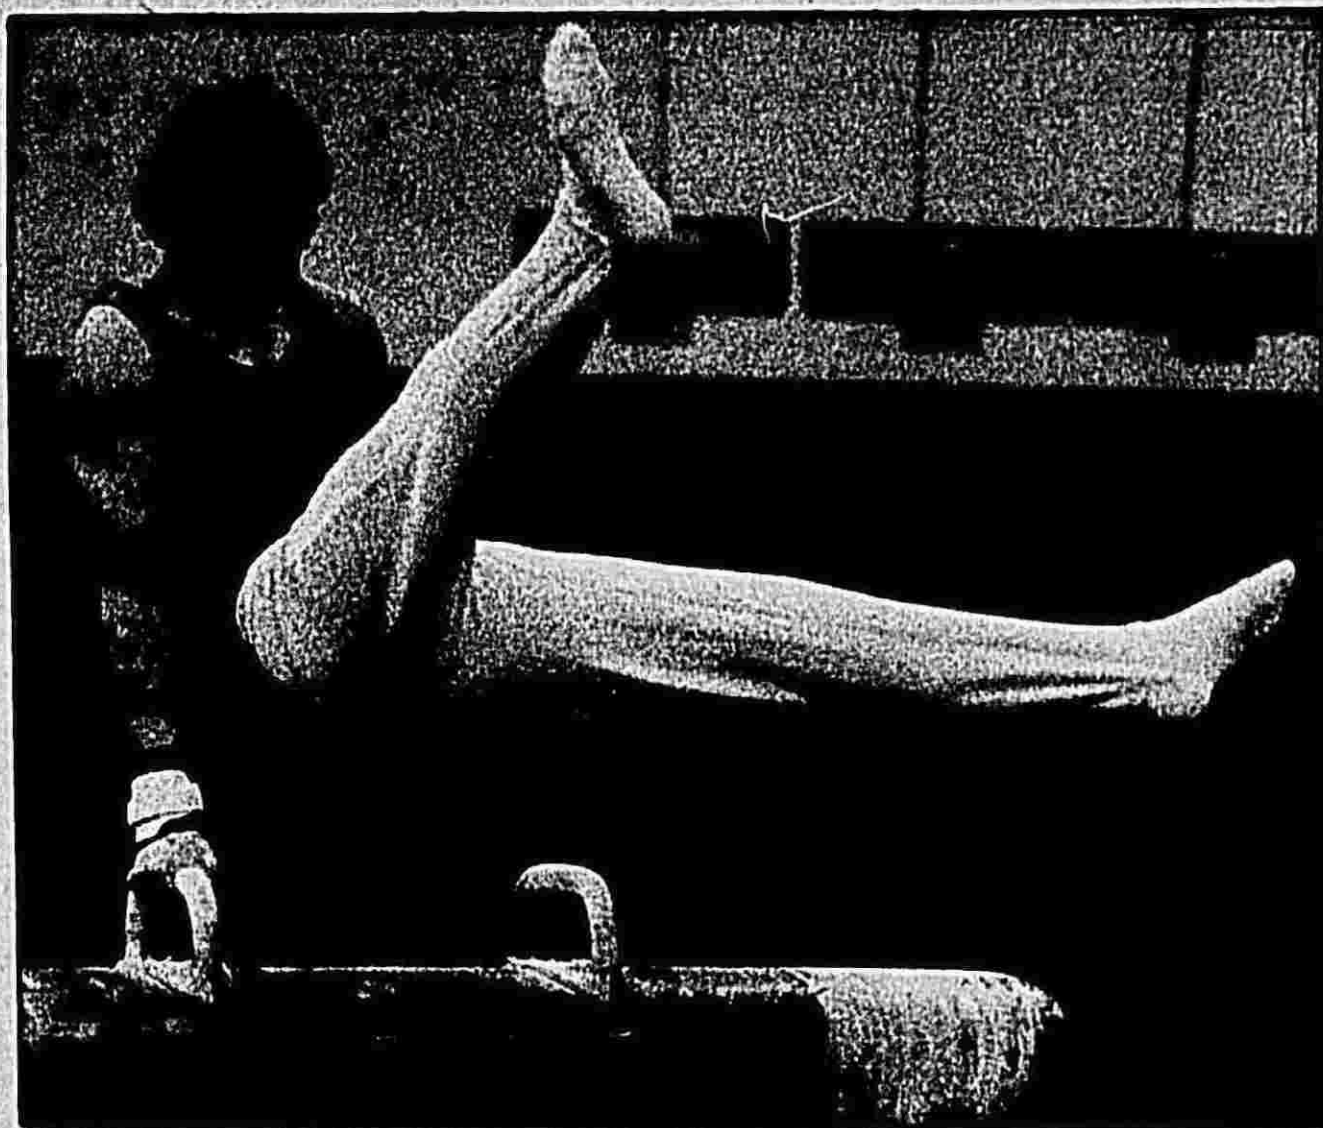

Corey Statham gave the Lancers a strong performance in the season finale, with 20 points, eight rebounds and four assists. Mark Bussone had nine points, six assists and four rebounds in coming off the bench.

High scorer Greg Green was not in the CLC lineup for the first time in 61 games due to chest pains.

"They ran a fastbreak and they run a press and we committed a few turnovers," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

The Lancers started the season with a flurry, winning four of their first five games and their season-opening tournament. Smith gained his 300th career victory.

"The next thing you know, we are 6-11. We were 2-10 in December and January and in the games we lost, our free-throw shooting was terrible. We were under 50 percent. Then when we started winning again, we shot about 75 percent," Smith said.

We've Already Given More Thought To Her Electrical Service Than She'll Give It In A Lifetime.

Twenty years ago, we were planning the nation's most modern and efficient electrical generating system to assure her of a start in life without any shortages, blackouts or rationing. But she doesn't know that.

Now, with capacity sufficient for years to come, we've redoubled our efforts to upgrade and improve the transmission and distribution system that will carry her electricity more reliably than ever. But she doesn't know that, either.

To provide these benefits at the greatest value, we're renewing our efforts toward Least Cost Planning. We're investigating new methods of conservation, as well as looking at alternative generating technologies which can help the existing supply of electricity go a lot further.

And though she doesn't realize it now, we're also planning new and improved customer services to better anticipate and respond to her needs.

In fact, if we achieve our goals, she may never give her electrical service a second thought. Which is precisely what we continue to strive for.

Assists the top priority for Warren's Shelton

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

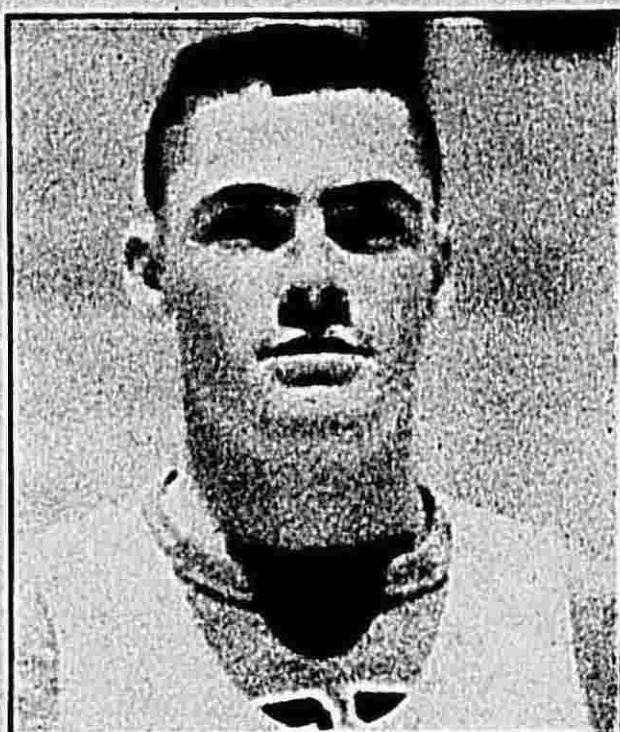

When most basketball fans look at the box score, they see field goals, free throws and total points listed.

But as far as Warren's Craig Shelton is concerned, a statistic most fans don't see is the one he likes best.

"I'd rather have 15 assists and zero points. I like passing the ball," Shelton a sophomore.

Shelton, a sophomore, set the tone early in the regional final against Carmel last Friday. Shelton had six assists in the first half alone. He finished with 11 for the game, topping Joel Elfering's record of 166.

In the win, Carmel advanced to the sectional level at Waukegan East against Lake Forest.

Craig Shelton

"That was the goal," Shelton said of the record after Warren beat Carmel for the third straight time in regional final action, 75-68.

Shelton said he worked on ballhandling, passing and shooting during the off-season before stepping into the role of starting guard on the varsity. He said he did have some big shoes to fill as he played the role that Qasim Dominquez played last year as the Blue Devils advanced to the Sweet Sixteen.

Shelton learned his one-on-one skills from his older brother Derek, now a catcher at the Southern Illinois University team.

He prides himself after such great NBA passers as Michael Jordan, Magic Johnson, John Stockton and Rex Chapman.

Shelton explained the team works a lot on shooting drills in practice. He also knows to be a complete player, defensive skills are a must.

"If a guy goes to his right, I try and force him left. I feel I can go either way," Shelton said.

WKRS to air sectional title tilt

Waukegan radio station WKRS will be broadcasting live the championship game of the Waukegan East sectional contest.

League honors help heal wounds for Rockets

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Richmond-Burton boys basketball Coach Scott Brunswick may still have yet to see the videotape.

"I still have not gotten over it," Brunswick said of the Rockets' 63-62 loss to Marian Central. "I did not go back to the regional at all. I see that shot going over and over in my mind. I see so vividly every turnover, every missed free throw," Brunswick recalled.

While the game was not as close, there was similar sediment in Gurnee.

"The girls were visibly upset; but they are over it now," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

The Blue Devils, of course, had somewhat higher stakes than the Rockets - Warren was seeking a second trip downstate while Richmond was in its first playoff game.

But between the two teams, they had won 49 games, two conference titles and two Christmas and Thanksgiving tournament championships. Both teams set new standards of wins for future school hoops teams to shoot for.

For a while, that did not matter in Belvidere - where Warren lost to Rockford Boylan 46-30 and at Marian Central, where Richmond fell on "the shot" by Dan Caufield.

A few days after the defeats, the wounds began to heal as NSC and Big Eight Conference named all league teams. Melissa Webster, Heather Olejcek and Christy Baker were Warren selections. Richmond had seniors Roger Hauri and Eric Miller on the 10 player team.

Webster, a defensive specialist, scored 9.4 points a game and had five assists and seven rebounds a contest.

Olejcek had six points a game and 4.6 assists.

Baker was Warren's leading scorer in an offense which featured nine different leading scorers.

Hauri was the top shooter for Richmond, scoring 17.1 points a game while Miller was at a consistent 10.1.

"They dominated the statistics in so many different areas," Brunswick said.

Hauri, at 6-1, was the team's leading rebounder and was second in recoveries. Miller was the leading assist Rocket, second in rebounding and first in recoveries.

"They were a fine duo," Brunswick concluded.

The Rockets were a family in the true sense of the word, attending grade by grade in Richmond since first. They played organized basketball together since fifth grade.

All have futures ahead of them beyond basketball. Hauri has to choose between football and -or basketball at DePauw University in Indiana, Milliken University in Decatur, Valparaiso University or University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

Miller will be attending a tryout in South Bend where junior college and Division III schools will come, looking for talent.

Jon Urban, another key in the Richmond success story, is interested in becoming a pilot and Charlie Seelandt is looking to continue his baseball career.

Scott Deleskiewicz, who scored 11.8 points a game as a junior, leads the returning players. "He helped a lot for us this year," Brunswick said.

Chad Komar returns after a season which saw him injured for most of the year. "We saw a glimmer of what he was able to do in the Marian Central game," Brunswick said.

Gary Lueck, a 6-0 junior, also returns, and he was the "quickest player on the team".

Nate Gardner is coming off the sophomore squad which went from winning one game as freshmen to a 10-11, 7-7 record. Brunswick praised the job turned in by Ron Duros.

Warren, too, has top returning players, notably Monica Brandt, Jasmine Strange in the inside and guards Kate Serdar, Terra Reed and Dana Mateja off the junior varsity.

Swimmers find success, advance to state meet

Two Gurnee swimmers qualified for the state swimming meet at the Town & Country Swim Meet was held Sunday at the Marmion Military Academy.

Kim Sheptak of Gurnee, age 12, advanced to the state in the 50 yard butterfly with a time of 30.36 (her time was .01 seconds away from the first place finisher), she also advanced to state in the 50 yard backstroke with a time of 32.62. Morgan Anderson, age eight, of Gurnee, also made the state meet in the 25 yard backstroke with a time of 18.62.

Personal bests were achieved on Sunday by Rebecca Giamo of Waukegan, Kelly Williams of Antioch, Julie Zevaski of Gurnee and by the five to eight age group medley relay and freestyle relay team of Laura Brothman of Waukegan, Maggie Novak of Zion and Rachel Hewitt of Waukegan.

"All of our swimmers had outstanding performances this weekend. Now is the time that all their hard work is pays off," Coach Mike Hewitt said.

For the boys' Lake County Family YMCA team, eight of the 11 swimmers qualified for the state meet to be held at the University of Chicago Circle campus.

Top finishers include: Joe Jump, age 12, of Waukegan in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 26.60 and in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 59.97; Kyle Maxwell of Gurnee, age 10, in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 1:06.39;

Curt Whitmire of Zion, age 14, in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 25.05 and in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 55.64. Qualifying in the 13 and 14-year old age group in the 200 yard freestyle relay team were Mike Griffin of Zion, Jason Williams of Antioch, Don Hanson of Gurnee and Whitmore with a time of 1:50.96.

Other outstanding performers were: Chris Maxwell of Gurnee, Brian Murphy of Antioch and Dave and John Piazza of Waukegan.

The Lake County Family YMCA Swim Team is nearing the end of its season, but will be recruiting new members for the season in beginning in October. For more information, call (708) 360-YMCA.

Channel 30 to broadcast Purdue, MSU title clash

The Big 10 championship basketball game between Purdue and Michigan State will be broadcast at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 11 by US Cable on its local originating channel, Channel 30.

Paul Ashley, general manager of US Cable, said there is no charge to see this game. It is being carried as a special service to the cable company to serve its northern Illinois customers.

ABC several months ago turned down the opportunity of broadcasting this game and then asked for it unsuccessfully when it appeared that it might become the championship game.

Purdue is rated 10th nationally with an overall record of 21-6 while Michigan State is No. 7 in the Associated Press poll with a record of 24-5.

Channel 30 provides local programming and telecasts of special interest to customers of US Cable of Lake County and Lake Forest.

Knights plan bowl-a-thon

Each year, the Knights of Columbus holds a bowl-a-thon in order to kickoff the drive to collect funds for aiding the mentally retarded.

This year the event, the

Frank J. Ogrin Memorial Bowl-a-Thon, will be held on Sunday, March 18 at the Bowlarium Lanes in North Chicago beginning at 1 p.m. Anyone who would like to join the Knights should obtain a pledge sheet prior to the event from the Knights of Columbus Hall at 616 Washington St. in Waukegan, or by calling Phil Balog at (708) 360-8671.

Assists the top priority for Warren's Shelton

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

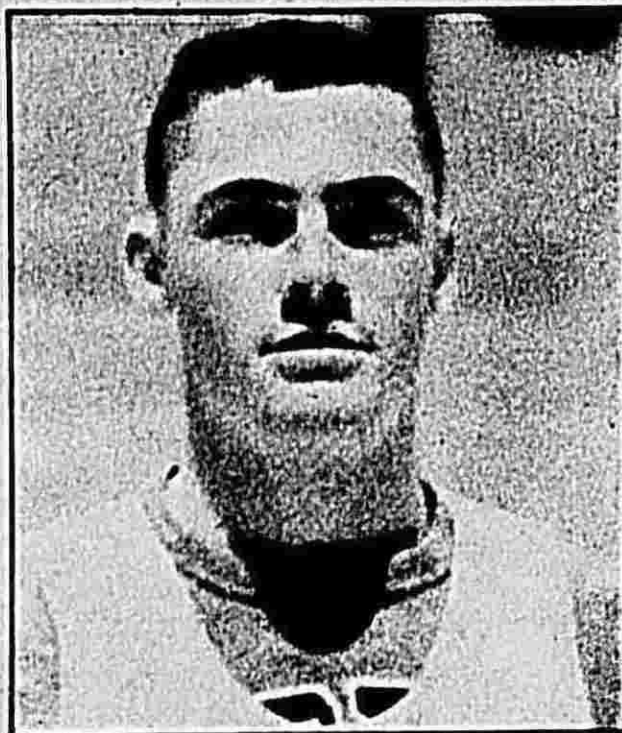

When most basketball fans look at the box score, they see field goals, free throws and total points listed.

But as far as Warren's Craig Shelton is concerned, a statistic most fans don't see is the one he likes best.

"I'd rather have 15 assists and zero points. I like passing the ball," Shelton a sophomore.

Shelton, a sophomore, set the tone early in the regional final against Carmel last Friday. Shelton had six assists in the first half alone. He finished with 11 for the game, topping Joel Elfering's record of 166.

In the win, Carmel advanced to the sectional level at Waukegan East against Lake Forest.

Craig Shelton

"That was the goal," Shelton said of the record after Warren beat Carmel for the third straight time in regional final action, 75-68.

Shelton said he worked on ballhandling, passing and shooting during the off-season before stepping into the role of starting guard on the varsity. He said he did have some big shoes to fill as he played the role that Qasim Dominquez played last year as the Blue Devils advanced to the Sweet Sixteen.

Shelton learned his one-on-one skills from his older brother Derek, now a catcher at the Southern Illinois University team.

He prides himself after such great NBA passers as Michael Jordan, Magic Johnson, John Stockton and Rex Chapman.

Shelton explained the team works a lot on shooting drills in practice. He also knows to be a complete player, defensive skills are a must.

"If a guy goes to his right, I try and force him left. I feel I can go either way," Shelton said.

WKRS to air sectional title tilt

Waukegan radio station WKRS will be broadcasting live the championship game of the Waukegan East sectional contest.

The Waukegan West-Hersey winner battles the Warren-Lake Forest winner March 9. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

League honors help heal wounds for Rockets

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Richmond-Burton boys basketball Coach Scott Brunswick may still have yet to see the videotape.

"I still have not gotten over it," Brunswick said of the Rockets' 63-62 loss to Marian Central. "I did not go back to the regional at all. I see that shot going over and over in my mind. I see so vividly every turnover, every missed free throw," Brunswick recalled.

While the game was not as close, there was similar sediment in Gurnee.

"The girls were visibly upset; but they are over it now," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

The Blue Devils, of course, had somewhat higher stakes than the Rockets - Warren was seeking a second trip downstate while Richmond was in its first playoff game.

But between the two teams, they had won 49 games, two conference titles and two Christmas and Thanksgiving tournament championships. Both teams set new standards of wins for future school hoops teams to shoot for.

For a while, that did not matter in Belvidere - where Warren lost to Rockford Boylan 46-30 and at Marian Central, where Richmond fell on "the shot" by Dan Caufield.

A few days after the defeats, the wounds began to heal as NSC and Big Eight Conference named all league teams. Melissa Webster, Heather Olejcek and Christy Baker were Warren selections. Richmond had seniors Roger Hauri and Eric Miller on the 10 player team.

Webster, a defensive specialist, scored 9.4 points a game and had five assists and seven rebounds a contest.

Olejcek had six points a game and 4.6 assists.

Baker was Warren's leading scorer in an offense which featured nine different leading scorers.

Hauri was the top shooter for Richmond, scoring 17.1 points a game while Miller was at a consistent 10.1.

"They dominated the statistics in so many different areas," Brunswick said.

Hauri, at 6-1, was the team's leading rebounder and was second in recoveries. Miller was the leading assist Rocket, second in rebounding and first in recoveries.

"They were a fine duo," Brunswick concluded.

The Rockets were a family in the true sense of the word, attending grade by grade in Richmond since first. They played organized basketball together since fifth grade.

All have futures ahead of them beyond basketball. Hauri has to choose between football and -or basketball at DePauw University in Indiana, Milliken University in Decatur, Valparaiso University or University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

Miller will be attending a tryout in South Bend where junior college and Division III schools will come, looking for talent.

Jon Urban, another key in the Richmond success story, is interested in becoming a pilot and Charlie Seelandt is looking to continue his baseball career.

Scott Deleskiewicz, who scored 11.8 points a game as a junior, leads the returning players. "He helped a lot for us this year," Brunswick said.

Chad Komar returns after a season which saw him injured for most of the year. "We saw a glimmer of what he was able to do in the Marian Central game," Brunswick said.

Gary Lueck, a 6-0 junior, also returns, and he was the "quickest player on the team".

Nate Gardner is coming off the sophomore squad which went from winning one game as freshmen to a 10-11, 7-7 record. Brunswick praised the job turned in by Ron Duros.

Warren, too, has top returning players, notably Monica Brandt, Jasmine Strange in the inside and guards Kate Serdar, Terra Reed and Dana Mateja off the junior varsity.

Swimmers find success, advance to state meet

Two Gurnee swimmers qualified for the state swimming meet at the Town & Country Swim Meet was held Sunday at the Marmion Military Academy.

Kim Sheptak of Gurnee, age 12, advanced to the state in the 50 yard butterfly with a time of 30.36 (her time was .01 seconds away from the first place finisher), she also advanced to state in the 50 yard backstroke with a time of 32.62. Morgan Anderson, age eight, of Gurnee, also made the state meet in the 25 yard backstroke with a time of 18.62.

Personal bests were achieved on Sunday by Rebecca Giamo of Waukegan, Kelly Williams of Antioch, Julie Zevaski of Gurnee and by the five to eight age group medley relay and freestyle relay team of Laura Brothman of Waukegan, Maggie Novak of Zion and Rachel Hewitt of Waukegan.

"All of our swimmers had outstanding performances this weekend. Now is the time that all their hard work is pays off," Coach Mike Hewitt said.

For the boys' Lake County Family YMCA team, eight of the 11 swimmers qualified for the state meet to be held at the University of Chicago Circle campus.

Top finishers include: Joe Jump, age 12, of Waukegan in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 26.60 and in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 59.97; Kyle Maxwell of Gurnee, age 10, in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 1:06.39;

Curt Whitmire of Zion, age 14, in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 25.05 and in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 55.64. Qualifying in the 13 and 14-year old age group in the 200 yard freestyle relay team were Mike Griffin of Zion, Jason Williams of Antioch, Don Hanson of Gurnee and Whitmore with a time of 1:50.96.

Other outstanding performers were: Chris Maxwell of Gurnee, Brian Murphy of Antioch and Dave and John Piazza of Waukegan.

The Lake County Family YMCA Swim Team is nearing the end of its season, but will be recruiting new members for the season in beginning in October. For more information, call (708) 360-YMCA.

Channel 30 to broadcast Purdue, MSU title clash

The Big 10 championship basketball game between Purdue and Michigan State will be broadcast at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 11 by US Cable on its local originating channel, Channel 30.

Environmentalists laud Army Corps permit denial

Environmentalists are lauding denial by the Army Corps of Engineers of a permit for construction of Fox Bay, a marina and multi-use development of 250-acres on the east bank of the Fox River southeast of McHenry.

Lt. Col. Jess Franco, head engineer in the Corps' Chicago office, said the 512-foot marina would "contribute to significant degradation of the Fox River Planning for Fox Bay, proposed to cost $163 million, was in the making two years. Wisconsin residents planning the project also proposed to reroute several major thoroughfare.

John Zinzow, who has experience with such multi-use water developments as the Abbey, Lake Geneva, admitted that the Army Corps decision "effectively kills" the project.

Members of the Chain O'Lakes-Fox River Special Area Management Plan (SAMP) called the decision a victory.

Driving professionals note that most drivers change lanes carelessly. They emphasize two rules: check rearview and sideview mirrors, and signal before you go.

If the brake pedal goes down more than halfway, or feels spongy, the brakes need adjusting or the fluid is low. Don't delay on brake service and maintenance.

★★★

Buckle up! Did you know that in a collision, even at 30 miles per hour, you would hit the windshield—or other passengers—with the impact of jumping off a three-story building?

What's electronic engine control? A central computer in the car that monitors data from various parts of the car and makes adjustments for better operation.

Smart drivers check the oil every other time they fill the gas tank at service or even self-service pumps. It's the easiest kind of trouble-shooting to avoid on-the-road problems.

Edgar stumps state looking for votes

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

For the past nine months Secretary of State James Edgar has been stumping the state in his quest to become the next governor of Illinois. The 43-year-old former legislator from downstate Charleston is intensifying his bid as primary election day draws near.

On the ballot he faces Hinsdale conservative Steven P. Baer. Both Baer and Democratic gubernatorial nominee Neil Hartigan, who has no primary, have put Edgar on the defensive. They say he will raise taxes if elected. The two cite his support two years ago of a 9-1/2-cent increase in the gasoline tax and a permanent extension of the of the two-year state income tax increase approved last spring.

"My opponents have distorted my position," Edgar counters. "I oppose higher state taxes, period."

Edgar has a multi-pronged approach to control spending if elected.

First, he wants a two year budget, which he claims will require the governor and legislature to more carefully to determine the value of each expenditure. Such a change requires a constitutional amendment.

Second, Edgar wants governor's vetoes to be overridden only by an extraordinary majority of legislators.

Some 21 states have two-year budgets and a good many others require an extraordinary veto majority, the would-be governor says.

Third, Edgar promises to use his veto power if elected. Mostly it will be for programs that do not include a sunset provision and/or the means to pay for them.

Lastly, Edgar promises no more state employees on the payroll than the day he takes office.

Edgar attacks Hartigan, who he sees as his main opponent, for saying state government should be run like a business.

"The last time someone said this it was a Chicago lawyer named Dan Walker," Edgar pointed out. Walker's one term as governor in the late 1970s was marked by a divisive war with the General Assembly and fiscal mismanagement. He also noted that Hartigan was Walker's running mate. "We can't afford to let the Democrats run the state the way they did the last time they were in control," Edgar said.

When Republican candidate finally goes on the offensive he has a wide-ranging agenda.

For openers, the 35th secretary of state

GOP hopeful on campaign swing

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Edgar, seated left, stopped in this area last week to talk with Lakeland Newspapers Publisher William Schroeder, seated right. Their wide-ranging conversation covered Edgar's election agenda and his goals if elected in November. Edgar is counting on Lake County to give him the same vote plurality in this election bid that has kept him in office for two elections as secretary of state.

stresses his popularity. After being appointed in 1981 to fill a vacancy in the 171-year-old office, the one-time member of the House won election in 1982. He was re-elected in 1986 by the largest plurality of any statewide candidate in Illinois history. If he loses, the Baptist Edgar goes back to his hometown of Charleston.

As secretary of state Edgar noted his success at bringing various factions together. "As governor I am sure I could get even more people to sit down and work things out," said the man who regards his style to that of President Theodore Roosevelt.

He also feels confident of working well with the Democratic legislature, something he says he already does well.

Turning to highways, Edgar is as aware as the next person about the importance of building and maintaining Illinois' highway system. During his frequent forays into Republican Lake County during the campaign he has observed firsthand the morning and nighttime rush-hour gridlock.

"More and better roads will only bring more people," he wryly noted about the apparent need for both. Edgar said $5 billion is earmarked over the next five years for highways, much of it in the Chicago suburbs and collar counties. But he admits this may not be enough.

As for Rte. 53, Edgar doesn't offer an opinion about the six- or eight-lane expressway through mid-Lake County by the year 2010. First, he doesn't want it to become a sensitive issue in his campaign as it did for the entire area one year ago. Then, there is no money.

The man from Charleston related a story from his boyhood to illustrate the problem of planning new highways. "A new highway now goes right through what used to be out living room. We didn't like it one bit, but today, I suppose, everyone down there would say it is a good thing."

Mass transit is a favorite of Edgar's. "Buses can go where rail cannot," he says. He doesn't discount rail's ability to move people. He is receptive to the Wisconsin Central Railroad plan for a new commuter line from Mundelein to the Loop with a price tag of $40-million.

Education, though, rates as a top concern by the Republican candidate. "Our young people need the knowledge and skills to hold jobs," he says. "Unless this happens Illinois will pay for increased welfare rolls and additional prisons."

It is for this reason he named a college professor and member of the General Assembly as his running mate. Robert Kustra of Park Ridge is a professor at Northwestern University.

Knowing that funding education will be a nagging Illinois issue well into the 1990s, Edgar wants a plan to "put more dollars into education each year." Political leaders will have to convince voters that reform efforts are meaningful and sincere. "People aren't buying proposals to 'shift' the present burden that rest on real estate taxation for school funding," he asserted.

Edgar is mildly critical of legislative efforts to disguise increases in the income tax as aid to schools. Admitting that "Illinois is running out of gas" with the reliance on real estate taxes, he stopped short of advocating an increase in the income tax to solve the school funding mess he was quoted as saying he found several weeks ago in Chicago.

"That isn't exactly what I said," he smiled. "That was the work of a young reporter. I do feel, though, that we should look at what we could do with the income tax."

The popular Republican stressed that "Illinois' revenue-raising program places an undue burden on homeowners." The result is a patchwork funding system with a lot of "have not" districts.

Edgar discounted a reporter's question that Illinois GOP leadership "is in bed" with the roadbuilding industry via campaign contributions. "The truth is that road builders contribute to both parties," the well-groomed candidate said. "They go both ways on elections."

Responding to a question about what the state can do about the continued erosion of its wetlands natural resources, Edgar observed that "government's job is to strike a balance." He stressed that "we can't put business at a disadvantage" in some of these decisions. He acknowledged the governor can exert tremendous influence about environmental issues and other matters, citing the "Bully Pulpit" approach taken by Teddy Roosevelt.

Looking ahead to the primary and the fall election, Edgar promises to listen as well as lead if elected. "When I am wrong I will change course," he said. "But I will lead even if it means paying a political price for doing what I believe is right for the people of our state. You can't be a good governor and lack the guts to govern."

In a state Edgar has found during his campaign to be large and diverse, he wants government to be part of the solution—big and small—not part of the problem.

Labeling lapels

One of Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Edgar's biggest supporters in Lake County is State Rep. William Peterson (R-Prairie View) of the 60th Dist. Wherever he goes he has a handful of Edgar stickers he eagerly plants on lapels such as that of Sheriff Clinton Grinnell. Standing next to the sheriff is Ela Twp. Supv. Robert Grever, who earlier had his lapel labeled. Peterson caught up with the two at the new Republican Party headquarters in Libertyville. Peterson is Lake County coordinator of the Edgar for Governor campaign.

Redistricting state is another election topic

There is an often overlooked reason why a Republican should be elected governor of Illinois in 1990, says Jim Edgar. He is the 43-year-old secretary of state seeking the job being vacated by fellow Republican Jim Thompson.

It is reapportionment. That will happen in 1991 based on results of the 1990 census. Illinois is slated to lose two representatives in Congress.

Given this, congressional districts will be realigned. Using the right pencil in the hands of certain people, some Democratic districts could become more Democratic and Republican districts made less of a GOP stronghold.

Drawing these new lines will be a committee of legislators from the Democratic-controlled House and Senate in the General Assembly. Control of the Assembly won't change in the November elections, Edgar said.

"A Republican governor is needed to oversee reapportionment and provide the checks and balances," Edgar explained. "If not, Illinois will have to live with those districts another 10 years."

Electing gubernatorial candidate Neil Hartigan will pave the way for Democratic control of the redistricting plan, Edgar added. He noted that Chicago Mayor Richard Daley may even play a role in this. Hartigan and Daley live within five miles of each other in Cook County.

Boness claims Johnston taking the low road

A Dist. 4 County Board candidate says Republican endorsed opponent is taking the low road of innuendos and fabrications to discredit his campaign for nomination.

Robert Boness, 40, seeking nomination as an independent Republican, accused Charles "Charlie" Johnston, backed by the Lake County GOP central committee, of reckless and irresponsible campaigning.

"Johnston keeps calling me a 'CTA hack.' What does that mean? That it's bade to work in Chicago?" inquired Boness, a building and construction inspector for the Chicago Transit Authority with 20 years service. The Round Lake Beach resident also is a member of the transit union.

Boness said he was dumfounded to hear Johnston accuse him of trying to hire a new employee at his first meeting of the inoperative Round Lake Sanitary Dist. during a Monday morning radio interview of four Republicans for the district including Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon townships.

"That was a complete fabrication," Boness stated flatly.

The mild-mannered candidate said Johnston also accused him falsely of advocating formation of a super sanitary district to replace the system of inter-governmental agreements put together in the early 1970's to bring modern sanitary sewers to the northwest part of Lake County.

"It's the other way around. That's Johnston's plan," stated Boness incredulously.

Boness admitted that he is getting frustrated correcting Johnston's misstatements as he campaigns for one of the two nominations.

"Charlie is campaigning on innuendo. I'm campaigning on issues. I refuse to attack Johnston personally," Boness asserted.

"I think Johnston and the Republican organization are fearful. They're pulling out all the stops," Boness asserted as he turned to his campaign plans for the final two weeks before voting day March 20.

Boness said he and his running mate, Larry Leafblad of Grayslake, will be getting information about their accomplishments and goals and aims for Lake County to as many voters as possible.

Boness said he is proud of his record of service as a member of the Round Lake Sanitary Dist. which he advocates dissolving as soon as possible. "My hands are tied right now. I'm out voted two to one."

Since appointed to the board, Boness has brought about public disclosure of minutes, started public official meetings, reduced legal fees, advocated start of a newsletter to residents, started work on getting an appraisal on property the district still owns and opposed a duplicative study costing $10,000 on the district's potential liability for a hazardous dump sit clean up.

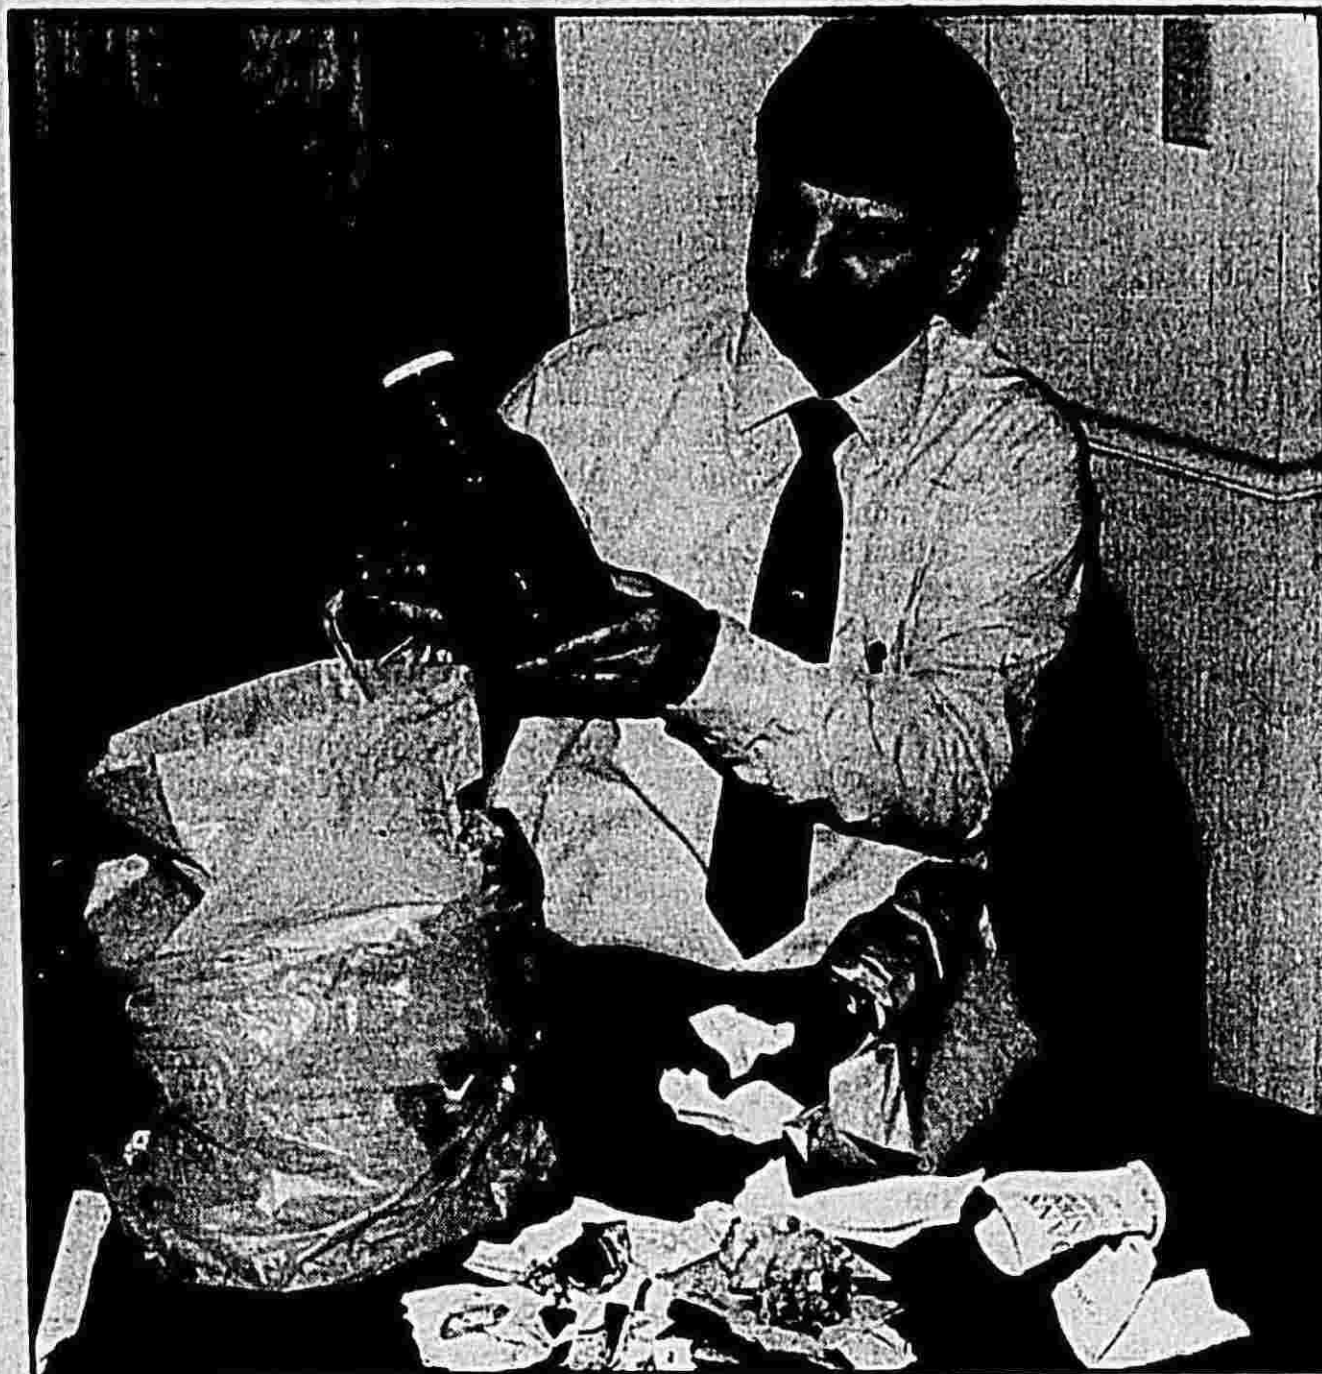

Boness contrasted his service with the service of Johnston, a former sanitary district trustee. Boness said during Johnston's term the board spent $50,000 on a "useless" financial study of the proposed super sanitary district, $48,386.27 for a super sanitary district feasibility study and $20,000 for legal counsel on bonds.

"Johnston spent a lot of taxpayers' money while a sanitary trustee, not much of an endorsement for nomination," Boness also pointed out that Johnston's service on the public school board failed to result in the collection of impact fees during a period of tremendous growth while the Round Lake Park Dist. collected donations and got land during the same period.

"That's the record of my opponent," Boness asserted.

A resident of Round Lake Beach for 17 years, Boness is well known in youth and environmental efforts. He was edged out by 17 votes in a bid a year ago to unseat Mayor Carl Schrimpf of Round Lake Beach.

Improper development

Robert Boness, Republican candidate for Lake County Board from Dist. 4, holds up jar of murky water which he describes as 'public cost for improper development.' He said he collected water sample from outfall of Mallard Creek Shopping Center storm drainage line into Round Lake. Boness said he picked up trash from shopping center, flowing into lake. Geo-Karis, Republicans endorse Edgar for governor

At a Lake County press conference, State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) delivered a strong endorsement of Secretary of State Jim Edgar as Republican candidate for governor.

Joining other Lake County legislators at the Lake County Building, Sen. Geo-Karis said Edgar is clearly the best choice because of his experience and commitment to good government.

"Jim Edgar has been an outstanding secretary of state, and the expertise he has gained will make him an outstanding governor as well," Sen. Geo-Karis said. "He is a man of integrity and he is dedicated to economy in government, quality education, safe highways and fighting drug use, which are also my priorities."

Sen Geo-Karis said the success of Edgar's campaigns to get drunk drivers off the highways through stiffer penalties and to enact the new mandatory auto insurance law shows that he is capable of taking the initiative on state issues. "Jim Edgar faced strong opposition on these measures, but he persevered, and as a result, motorists have greater protection against drunk and uninsured drivers," she said.

"Edgar is not afraid to take a stand for what he believes," she continued.

"He cares about Illinois and the well-being of all of its people. He will continue to serve us well and deserves our support."

Anderson's changes win forest preserve vote

Reaction was varied to Lake County Forest Preserve Board President C. Richard Anderson's wishes to change the makeup of some committees and the name of the Land Acquisition Committee.

"Anderson made a cardinal sin of politics," F.T. "Mike" Graham, chairman of the Land Acquisition Committee, said.

Anderson, added members to the land acquisition committee and renamed it the Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee.

"I'm looking for continuity in all committees," Anderson said at last week's meeting.

Added to the new committee, by an 11-10 vote, were: Andrea Moore of Dist. 5, Debra Halas of Dist. 2, James LaBelle of Dist. 3, Charlotte Kiesgen of Dist. 4 and James Mitchell of Dist. 1.

The motion to change the committee passed while Bruce Hanson of Dist. 6 was out of the Lake County Board Room.

Dist. 6 Board member Bobbie O'Reilly asked if the committee of 12 would constitute a committee-of-the-whole.

Graham said those people whom Anderson "curried their favor" will turn on him when they do not need him anymore.

"I had no idea. He did it on his own, although some people in their group thought he did," Graham said.

Robert Neal of Dist. 3, said the move will "give more balance to debate in the committee. It has been pretty one-sided".

"It goes to show that people on the committee are abusing their power. That is why they are extending it out," Robert Depke, candidate for Lake County Board in the Dist. 5 March 20 GOP primary, said.

Graham charged that Anderson was "trying to create a rift in Dist. 6".

Newton proposes open space zoning

by DONNA DUNCAN
Lakeland Newspapers

Vernon Hills will have more flexibility to protect land as open space if a new Conservation Open Space District zoning is approved by the village board.

Trustee Pam Newton proposed the new zoning last Tuesday, and urged the board to amend the village's zoning ordinance to create this new district.

"This is a way to protect natural resources. It can preserve or provide for scenic vistas," she said.

The proposal needs planning and zoning board review before coming back to the board for final approval.

Currently, the village's zoning ordinance includes the categories of residential, commercial/business and industrial.

Now, when a piece of land is annexed into the village, it comes in as R-1 residential. The new conservation zoning would allow the village to take in land as open space.

Newton said Long Grove has a similar scenic zoning ordinance.

Thompson Dyke & Assoc. land planners, who revised the village's comprehensive plan in 1988, is writing the amendment.

The COS zoning is intended for new pieces of land that comes into the village, Newton said.

Newton said she wanted this type of zoning ever since the comprehensive plan was completed.

"If land is automatically zoned R-1, developers and builders come in looking to build, with this type of zoning, it discourages any growth or development," she said.

The COS zoning could provide scenic easements on roadways, botanical areas, hiking and bicycle trails, parks and playgrounds. Special uses under the zoning would include golf courses, public environmental education centers and recreational facilities, such as tennis courts, ball fields and picnic shelters.

Newton, a county board candidate, fiercely opposes the land acquisition methods by incumbent county board members Carol Calabrese and F.T. "Mike" Graham.

Spring Grove eyeing 13 % electric savings

The latest figures in the Village of Spring Grove's efforts to either get Commonwealth Edison to substantially lower its residents' electric rates, or to get their electricity elsewhere, could mean a possible 13 percent savings.

In a controversy that could end up in setting an area precedent, the village is working on setting up its own utility and buy its power from Wisconsin Power and Light, just across the border.

Village Atty. John Roth says that figures that show a possible 7 percent rate reduction if the village does set up the utility and work with the Wisconsin Power Co. have been tossed around.

Com Ed says that the $750,000 it costs to set up a utility has not been figured in this reduced rate structure.

Com Ed also warns village officials of the danger and less than wise decision of having only one power line running into the village.

Village officials are just following up on a referendum in last spring's election that showed the majority of Spring Grove residents were in favor of "going shopping" for their electricity and also allowed for a $3.8 million revenue bond float to fund the independent utility.

Village officials are expected to meet with representatives of Com Ed inside of the next month to discuss who Spring Grove's electricity provider should be.

Open space forum March 15

Heated battles between farmers, developers and conservationists in Lake County over the "open space" issue have clouded the important underlying concept of quality of urban growth.

Although all groups have different motives for land preservation and use, they share many of the same concerns.

On Thursday, March 15 at 9:30 a.m., the Univ. of Ill. Cooperative Extension Service will present a free forum designed to inform county residents about Lake County's Land Use Plan.

Topics to be discussed are: Lake County's Zoning Plan; the Zoning Board of Appeals Process; Lake County Land Use Plan; Regional Land Use Plan; and the Lake County Forest Preserve's Land Acquisition Plans.

Speakers will be: Bob Mosteller, Lake County Planning and Zoning; Richard Mariner, Northern Illinois Planning Commission; Jim LaBelle, Lake County Board; Jean Baenziger, League of Women Voters; and Jerry Soesbe, Lake County Forest Preserve.

Camp Fire Boys, Girls to celebrate 50th birthday

During the month of March, Camp Fire boys and girls across the country will be celebrating Camp Fire's 50th birthday with scheduled activities and community events.

To kick off the birthday celebration members will take a trip to the Rosemont horizon to see the Harlem Globetrotters. The Camp Fire Fun Run April 7 will be a birthday party complete with cake, refreshments, balloons and clowns. Two alumni teas are planned for past members of Camp Fire.

The theme of this year's birthday observance is "Today's Camp Fire For Today's Kids." This theme is central to the youth agency's commitment to young people. It reinforces the message that Camp Fire is changing to meet the changing needs of modern children.

Today's Camp Fire teaches boys and girls self-reliance and good citizenship. Through contemporary programs and by speaking out on issues that affect youth and their families today's Camp Fire is helping kids cope with their changing world. In today's Camp Fire, the choices and opportunities are wide open for boys and girls. Through Camp Fire young people learn to develop confidence and gain skills needed to become tomorrow's leaders.

"We're inviting the entire community to join with us in celebrating Camp Fire's birthday," said Irene Peterson, executive director of the council.

Camp Fire members will be participating in a variety of activities during birthday week. This will include a poster contest for clubs.

The Le-To-He, Ill. Council of Camp Fire was founded in 1967 and serves over 200 young people in Lake and McHenry counties every year. Camp Fire Boys and Girls is a national not-for-profit youth organization serving more than 500,000 boys and girls of all ages nationwide. The organization is headquartered in Kansas City, Mo.

We salute the Girl Scouts U.S.A.

Girl Scout Week is celebrated annually and commemorates the beginning of the Girl Scout Movement in the U.S. On March 12, 1912, Juliette Gordon Low met with 18 girls in Savannah, Ga., and formed the first Girl Scout troop. The first nationwide Girl Scout Week was celebrated in 1919 in conjunction with the birthday of founder Juliette Gordon Low on Oct. 31. In 1954, the event was officially changed to the week of March 12.

March 12, 1990, is the 78th anniversary of the Girl Scouts, the world's largest voluntary organization for girls. Since 1912, millions of girls have had the opportunity to make new friends, learn new skills, and become confident individuals through Girl Scouting.

As the world changes and becomes more complex, Girl Scouting moves with the times. The organization continues to find new ways to help girls and young women develop a sense of values and make meaningful contributions to society.

The all-girl experience of Girl Scouting presents girls with a world where they can take the leadership position. It provides an environment, maybe the only such environment a girl will encounter during her formative years, where the special needs and interests of girls come first.

Through Girl Scouting, girls learn to overcome obstacles and are challenged to develop their full potential. Girls Scouts have traveled to Antarctica and Australia to study ecology and geology.

Thank you, Girl Scouts, for the way you make a difference in the lives of girls. Hats off to you during Girl Scout Week, March 11 through 17 and all year-round.

Three ways you can help:

Adopt a pet

All of our animals are in perfect health are cared for daily. We will only adopt our animals to quality homes. We have many healthy kittens and puppies that are ready for adoption.

Volunteer your time

We need volunteers to help our organization and our animals. If you can spare 2 hours of your time each week, it will make a big difference. Please call and we will help you get started.

Financial assistance

We have over 250 animals in our shelter. They need food, medical attention and lots of love. If you can not be a volunteer, you can still be a member by making a fully tax deductible contribution today.

These animals need your help!

Where in the Round Lake area can you erase your monthly checking charges with a push of a button?

At the St. Paul Federal Bank inside your neighborhood Omni Superstore, that's where. Because now we're not only offering you the convenience of banking where you shop, but also the new "Express Checking Account."

It's simple. Just make all your deposits and withdrawals through an ATM. And we'll waive the normal $7.00 monthly service charge when you limit bank teller transactions to two per statement month. You'll get in return a checking account that takes just $100 to open, has no minimum balance requirements and provides 24-hour Cash Station® ATM convenience at over 1,000 locations throughout Chicagoland.

So go ahead and push some buttons. The "Express Checking Account" from St. Paul Federal is our fastest, most convenient way to bank. For all the details, visit the St. Paul Federal Omni Banking Center, 722 E. Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach. Or call us at 1-800-321-BANK.

St Paul Federal Bank For Savings
The bank that's good for life.™

Deposits up to $100,000 are insured by the FDIC and backed by the full faith & credit of the U.S. Government.
